Vom Ha Kippurim
Hiram Thinks Twice
Solomon Needed
Incredible Folly

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1920.

Yesterday, being the "tenth day of the seventh month," otherwise Yom Ha Kippurim, or Day of Atonement, millions of Jews the world over fasted, obeyed the Bible's injunction, "Ye shall afflict your souls."

Not until the sun was set and three stars were visible in the heavens, did they taste food, from Lord Rothschild, the richest Jew, who stood with his face to the wall of his palace, to the poorest Jew in his cellar.

You will find the original order in your Old Testament, Leviticus. 27th verse, 23d chapter:

"Also on the tenth day of this seventh month there shall be a day of atonement: it shall be an holy convocation unto you; and ye shall afflict your souls, and offer an offer made by fire unto the Lord."

As regards solemn, formal atonement before the world and each other, the Jews have a monopoly of "Yom Kippur." The rest of the world is to learn that for its sins, folly and fighting begun in 1914, it must go through many years of atonement.

When the disaster happened in Wall street, business ability seized upon it. One clever Wall street reporter said the explosion, upon the whole, was looked upon as "constructive," because "it would put an end to criticism," which Wall street doesn't like.

The New York Times selected Senator Hiram Johnson and Senator Borah for its moralizing, and said it hoped both would "think twice before again crying out upon wicked international bankers."

Having "thought twice," Hiram Johnson sends this telegram:

The Times editorial is so utterly silly that comment upon it is unnecessary. Its endeavor to twist and distort a bloody, brutal crime to aid a failing cause, is contemptible.

"It goes without saying that its implication concerning myself is false, but that is nothing new. Its abuse will neither affect my detestation and horror of innocents murder, like the recent outrage, nor the intensity of my purpose to prevent any persons, international bankers or others, from foisting the League of Nations upon this country."

And poor Mr. Cox hopes he can take California away from Hiram Johnson!

According to a convincing story in last night's New York Evening Post, it seems probable, after all, that the Wall street explosion may have been caused by accident, carelessness. This theory, lacking in romance, may not satisfy all, but the matter should be carefully investigated for the benefit of those that nurse no theory, wanting only the truth.

The statement of a responsible foreman working on a job in the Wall street district that he was "continually bothered by men coming here with loads of explosives that are not for us," ought to interest national and local policemen.

If Solomon came back his work would be harder. When the two women brought the baby before him, he offered to cut it in two, giving half to each, and thus learned which really owned the baby. She said, "Give it to the other lady."

What would Solomon have said had he divorced one, judge or referee in the case of E. S. Willard and his wife, now sadly separated. Their very modern problem was, as the referee's report shows, "equal distribution of wines, liquors and cordials now at the Locust Valley home of Mrs. Willard or elsewhere."

As "civilization" increases, life's problems become more complicated.

Ignorance and stupidity in the New York Legislature expel Socialist members legally elected and make it possible for Morris Hillquit, leader of the New York Socialists, to say truly that his party "stands for representative government," while Democrats and Republicans that expelled the Socialists "represent arbitrary lawlessness."

It should be remembered by distinguished New York legislators, whose collars can be lifted over their heads without unbuttoning, that there is intelligence in the Socialist party. Mr. Hillquit, the New York Socialist leader, an able lawyer, representing big interests and constantly insisting upon obedience to law, will know how to make the most of the lawlessness that ignores the right of the people to elect their own representatives.

Mr. Hughes, lately on the Supreme bench of the United States, may well call the expulsion of the Socialists "incredible folly."

OFFICERS CENSURED BY JUDGE

Freeing Alleged Slacker Rome, Judge Morton Criticizes Army Tribunal

Phillip Rome of Worcester, sentenced to one year at hard labor by an army tribunal for alleged draft dodging, was released by Judge Morton in the Federal Court today.

The court censures the military authorities, as having been "peremptory and unjust," and says their insistence on prosecution after learning the facts was "far from accreditable."

Judge Morton also criticised the local draft board at Worcester, for failing to notify the district board that Rome had left the country with the knowledge and consent of the War Department.

FAILED TO APPEAR.

Rome, who is the son of a wealthy merchant, went to Buenos Aires after having been registered for the draft. When his name was called he failed to appear. He was tried by courtmartial about two months ago and sentenced.

Before the sentence was made public, Attorney A. K. Cohen, Rome's counsel, filed a writ of habeas corpus, asking that his client be admitted to bail and be removed from military custody. Judge Morton admitted Rome to $5,000 bail.

In his finding today Judge Morton said Rome registered and went abroad with the knowledge of the local board and the War Department.

CALLED A DESERTER.

He did not report for military service and was classified as a deserter.

"The insistence on prosecution for desertion by the army authorities after the real facts had been brought to their attention," said Judge Morton, "seems to me to be far from accreditable. It is clear, I think, that there cannot be an induction on default unless the person so inducted had reasonable notice and a reasonable opportunity to appear before being defaulted.

"The rules and regulations contained no adequate provision in respect to American citizens who had been registered and allowed to leave the country.

"Apparently it was in part due to the haste with which the regulations had to be prepared. There was no excuse for the Adjutant-General's office to deal in any such peremptory and unfair way with registrants who for good reasons failed to appear."

Versailles, Sept. 23.—Premier Millerand has been elected President of France, it is definitely announced.

Riis, Kahn, Finley, U. S. Liteary Lights

Paris, Sept. 23.—Jacob Riis, Otto H. Kahn and John Finley are the three great lights of modern American letters, says Jean Richepin, poet and member of the French Academy.

His lectures published in book form are supposed to reveal "the spirit of America" to the French. The first example of American spirit found by Richepin is that of the Indian, and Longfellow's "Hiawatha" is taken to illustrate it.

The modern phase of the clash between different races in America is explained by citations from Riis, Kahn and Finley.

The work of Alan Seeger, who was killed in the Champagne attack when fighting in the Foreign Legion, is regarded by Richepin as "the finest expression of modern American poetry."

ROMANCE EASES SENTENCE

Lawrence Man Who Floated Get-Rich-Quick Scheme Is Put on Probation

Lawrence, Sept. 23.—The fact that there is a young woman in Gloucester with the best of reasons for expecting Fred T. Bursaw to return and marry her led Judge Frederick Fosdick in Superior Court to be lenient when the young man was brought before him today on the charge of inaugurating a young Ponzi plan.

Bursaw, employed by the Boston & Maine at Gloucester as a baggage man, was alleged to have set a get-rich-quick scheme in motion and was said to have paid in full at the end of the first period.

Then, it was alleged, "depositors" reinvested and bust. When a warrant was asked for, according to the complaint, Bursaw fled to Milford, Ct., where he was arrested. The amount involved is said to be about $800.

When Judge Fosdick heard the facts with reference to Bursaw's need of considerable money, he placed the young man on probation with the understanding that he will make restitution.

"And now," said the Judge, "hurry home and marry the girl."

BROWN SOPHOMORES WIN BIG FLAG RUSH

Providence, R. I., Sept. 23.—Sophomores were victorious over the freshman class at Brown University today in the annual flag rush. Fixing their pennant upon a ten-foot pole, about 150 sophomores formed a cordon about it. The freshmen, numbering about 350, penetrated the outer defenses, and one of them managed to climb over the heads of the opposition and get within a foot of the flag, but was pulled down.

RIOTING IN ITALY SPREADS

Railway Guard Killed; Many Wounded; Soviets Hold Factories

By International News Service.

London, Sept. 23.—Rioting has broken out in the industrial district of northern Italy, following the refusal of some of the labor Soviets to evacuate seized factories, according to advices from Turin today.

Italian railway guards were fired upon near Turin and one was killed and several others wounded. Disorders have occurred at Brescia and Sandona. Turin reports its violence is spreading.

Street fighting broke out in Turin, throwing the populace into panic, said a dispatch to the Star. A pitched battle developed between an enormous crowd and the police. Troops were called out and fully succeeded in dispersing the mob.

The workers' councils in thirty-four out of fifty-one Italian factories have adopted resolutions condemning the terms of the settlement between the iron and steel workers and the employers, said a Turin dispatch to the Daily Express. Leaders of the dissatisfied workmen announced that they would renew their fight.

The Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Genoa reports that Anarchists are in control of the labor situation in that city. They are refusing to hand back the Otero shipyards to the owners and to evacuate the factories that were seized during the last fortnight.

HIRAM JOHNSON IS TO INVADE THE EAST

New York, Sept. 21—The invasion of the East by Senator Hiram Johnson was announced at Republican National Headquarters today. Governor Coolidge will speak in Carnegie Hall, New York, on October 28, and in Philadelphia on October 15.

'BLACK AND TANS' KILL PATRIOTS

Greenwood Hastens to Ireland in Effort to Stop Reign of Terror

BULLETIN.

London, Sept. 23.—Terence MacSwiney, hunger-striking Lord Mayor of Cork, was still alive in Brixton jail today, although he has now gone without food for forty-two days. MacSwiney spent a restful night and got considerable sleep. When he awoke he suffered severe pains in the head and was very weak.

London, Sept. 23.—Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, left hurriedly for Dublin to investigate reports that English adventurers in the Royal Irish Constabulary were sacking Irish towns and burning Irish homes.

These adventurers, known as "Black and Tans," are declared to have pillaged and partly burned six Irish towns within a week.

Secretary Greenwood's departure followed serious news from Milton Malbay, County Clare, where one soldier and four policemen were killed in a pitched battle, with the inhabitants. Twenty-six civilians were arrested.

The fighting at Milton Malbay is said to have followed a bold attempt to put the town to the sack in revenge for the killing of policemen in the past few weeks.

Following closely on the pillage of Balbriggan, the outrages in the Clare town have aroused British public opinion. The Manchester Guardian, universally friendly to the Irish, refers to Balbriggan as the "Irish Louvain," and demands an end of pillaging.

Coincident with the incendiarism and rioting of the constabulary in Milton Malbay, it was announced that eight British soldiers forced their way into the room of John Lynch, a Sinn Feiner, in the Royal Exchange Hotel in Dublin, and shot him dead.

Blankets were used on the windows and doors to muffle the sounds of shots. An inquest was defied by the government.

Elsewhere throughout Ireland the news of the last few hours indicated that the warfare between people and military was becoming more bitter. Sinn Feiners have executed a spy in Rathroe, County Carlow. Others, presumably Irish Volunteers, confiscated funds of a Dublin bank.

Commenting on the desperate situation, the London Evening Standard speaks of a rumor that the government will banish Sinn Fein sympathizers to far parts of the empire in an effort to break up the republican movement.

In England, the guard has been increased about Brixton jail, where Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork is confined.

It is learned that owing to the state of terrorism molygoards are being provided for Sinn Fein leaders.

There are indications that within the next few months emigration to the United States will again become extensive. Already shipping offices are receiving great numbers of applications for passage.

Go After Coal Gougers, Urges Gov. Milliken

Augusta, Me., Sept. 23.—Governor Milliken today made the following statement in regard to the scarcity of hard coal:

"I have always contended that the export of soft coal should be prohibited until the domestic supply is taken care of. I do not know whether much hard coal is exported or not, but if it is, that should also be stopped until the people at home are supplied.

"The Department of Justice at Washington should do something besides engage in conversation and reach the men who are profiteering in coal. Coal may be procured now, but at a fancy price and all out of proportion to the cost of mining it and getting it to the market.

"The State has been asked to pay as high as $22 per ton for bituminous coal to heat the capitol."

SEEK $33,000 IN PONZI CASE

Receivers in Federal Court to Get Money in the Hanover Trust Company

Federal Court action seeking to seize $33,000 in the Hanover Trust Company in the joint account of John S. Dondero, Harry L. Mahoney and Henry T. H. Nielsen, that it may be turned into the assets of Charles Ponzi's estate, was begun today by the Ponzi receivers.

In a petition filed in the United States District Court the receivers ask that the three men be called into court and give reasons why the money standing in their names should not be used for the benefit of Ponzi's creditors.

HEARING MONDAY.

Judge Morton will hear the case Monday afternoon.

According to the petition, the three respondents have denied personal interest in the money, but have repeatedly refused to surrender it.

This account in the Hanover Trust Company was one of the several accounts which Ponzi testified at a previous hearing was used by him for checking purposes.

John S. Dondero, the alleged partner of Ponzi, was unable to appear today at the receivers' hearing at the Federal building on account of sickness, and the inquiry was postponed indefinitely.

MAY APPEAR MONDAY.

Attorney Kalisky appeared before the receivers and explained that his client was confined to his bed with bronchitis and would, no doubt, appear Monday.

Dondero is believed to be the most important witness so far called by the receivers, and from him the arbiters of Ponzi's declinated assets hope to receive considerable valuable information concerning the disposal of hundreds of thousands of dollars of money trusted to Ponzi.

The bankruptcy hearing before Referee Olmstead will be continued tomorrow. Miss Lucy Meil, secretary to Ponzi, will resume the stand and it is possible that Ponzi will be called during the day.

WEST VIRGINIA MINE STRIKE IS THREATENED

Seventy-eight have been arrested in the strike zone. It is reported he had thirty-one sticks of dynamite in his possession.

SEEK HOLD NEGRO IN CHILD'S DEATH

Step-Father Will Face Woman Who Saw a Man at Scene of Crime

Despite their denials of guilty knowledge of the mysterious death of six-year-old Dorothy Rogers, Charles H. Rogers, her stepfather, and Santo Zanghe, an Albany street baker, were held by the police for further questioning today.

Mrs. Lillian Rogers, mother of the child, also was questioned. She appeared voluntarily. It was said she would be asked to repeat her story of her husband's movements just before the tragedy, which story he is understood to have contradicted in important particulars.

Rogers was arrested in a Massachusetts avenue store, where he worked. He said he had not seen the child for four months, when he and his wife parted. He declared all he knew of the puzzling accident in which the child was said to have fallen from the roof of a Roxbury house a mile and a half from her home and been killed, he read in the newspapers. Zanghe was arrested by police of the Dudley street station. It was alleged he acted in a suspicious manner, and had been a friend of Rogers.

Among the witnesses awaiting examination today was the woman who saw a negro hurrying from the place where the child was found Tuesday morning. She said the man brushed by her when she called his attention to the body of the child on the ground.

Rogers, a mulatto, was to be confronted with this woman, in an attempt at identification.

MOVE TO GET FUEL FOR STATE

Committee Named by Governor to Solve Problem in Session Here

A committee of five dealers appointed by Governor Coolidge to assist Chairman Eugene C. Hultman of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life in relieving, as far as possible, the serious shortage in hard coal that prevails throughout Massachusetts organized and began work today.

Other New England governors are expected to take similar action to combat the coal crisis which already has affected home comforts and threatened to close public schools.

BIG COAL DEALERS.

The committee of coal experts selected by Governor Coolidge is made up of William A. Clark, Boston, president of the Massachusetts Coal Dealers' Association; Wallace Phinney, City Fuel Company, Boston; Edward Hamlin, president of the Metropolitan Coal Company, Boston; Elmer A. Packard of Brockton and George Pickering of Salem. The members of the committee were notified of their appointment by telegraph to meet at the Governor's office at 10 a. m. today.

Chairman Hultman of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life attended the conference with Governor Coolidge. Hultman recently became fuel administrator.

Reports of an alarming scarcity of hard coal have poured in from all parts of the state and New England, which the child was said to have fallen from the roof of a Roxbury house a mile and a half from her home and been killed, he read in the newspapers. Zanghe was arrested by police of the Dudley street station. It was alleged he acted in a suspicious manner, and had been a friend of Rogers.

BOSTON SCHOOLS SORELY PRESSED FOR HARD COAL SUPPLY

rural sections are refusing to take orders.

A careful investigation by the Boston American reveals a hard coal shortage which already has prevented householders everywhere in the State from obtaining their Winter supply and which threatens to close schools and subject families in every community to severe hardships.

The supply of anthracite coal in yards and on wharves is practically exhausted. Coal dealers cannot supply the coal because they haven't got it. And, what bears even deeper portent, they don't know when they are going to have it.

OLD CUSTOMERS FIRST.

In the course of the American's investigation the following, almost stereotyped, conversation took place in the offices of coal dealers all over the State of Massachusetts, the investigator in every case appearing as the every day consumer:

Consumer — I would like to get some stove and chestnut coal.

Salesman — Are you a customer of ours?

Consumer—No.

Salesman—Sorry, but we can only promise limited deliveries to old customers. Hundreds have been on the waiting list for months. Can only give a half ton or ton to those at top of list to tide them over.

Consumer — When may I expect some?

Salesman—No telling. Local yards are almost bare. Have to fill our orders first. Will take your order but cannot guarantee delivery.

Fuel experts agree that not more than 25 per cent. of the normal hard coal supply is on hand. This includes that which already has been sold for the Winter to the fortunate ones. Stove and furnace coal was bringing $16 a ton retail today, and Mr. Average Man could not buy it at that high figure unless he happened to have been wise enough to list his Winter order last spring. Even under such advantages the householder cannot expect more than a half ton or a ton at most of stove coal to keep his kitchen range going. Furnace coal secured today to be almost as scarce as radium.

William T. Keough, purchasing agent for the public schools of Boston, said today that instead of having from 4,000 to 5,000 tons of hard furnace coal on hand, he was only able to get 2,000 tons to supply heat for 174 portable school buildings and upward of 100 permanent buildings of the small type.

"I managed to get only a quarter of the required hard coal supply," said Mr. Keough, "in spite of the fact that I personally made a canvass of dealers. Finally I made an appeal to the joint trade and a committee of three was appointed to see what the trade could do for me. I furnished the committee with the desired data, and it is customary to start furnaces in the schools before the average family starts furnace fires in their homes, we still have another month before any real discomfort would result. But I had to get started early. The hard coal supply is scant all over Boston. I found that out.

"What I got I had to pay $16.75 for delivered by basket. I need about 2,000 more tons of hard coal for the small buildings that are equipped with small boilers or hot air furnaces. I have ample soft coal for the larger school buildings, some 200,000 tons. I feel that the coal dealers' committee will scrape up the hard coal I desire."

Inquiry showed that only the large dealers in Greater Boston have a sufficient supply of anthracite on hand to make deliveries to old customers and these deliveries are annoyingly scant. Dealers in the suburbs in most instances reported that they had no hard coal at all and that the situation was so bad they had even quit taking orders.

MANY ON WAITING LIST.

Boston dealers reported that the "waiting lists" run from hundreds to thousands and that orders for Winter coal entered in June have been only partly filled in most cases.

Today's retail price scale was $16 a ton for egg, stove and nut, $16.25 for pea coal, $13.25 for bituminous and $7.50 for screenings. Half tons were listed at $8.25 and quarter tons at $4.25, which brought another dollar, or $17 a ton, to the dealer for the in quarter-ton lots or $16.50 in half-ton lots.

Coal offices these days are busy places. They are besieged by serious men and women, who make appeals instead of giving orders. Their stories show that many homes, especially in suburbs and rural sections, are without range fires unless wood is burned. Wood is selling for $2.50 a foot or $20 a cord, which makes it almost prohibitive for poor families. Sales by baskets and bags, the poor family method of purchasing, have stopped.

MORE SOFT COAL ON HAND.

New England industries are facing the Winter under far better fuel conditions than New England households. Thanks to the warning sounded by Fuel Administrator Storrow on his return from Europe last Summer, the bituminous or soft coal situation in New England has been relieved to such a degree that the special committee recently requested that the priority privilege granted for coal section be removed.

Here and there, however, firms report a soft coal shortage. Superintendent F. W. Jennings of the Framingham Gas Company announced today that it had only four days' supply of soft coal left. The fuel situation in Framingham, especially where family lines are concerned, was today reported "alarming" by the town officials. The Selectmen have called a meeting for tomorrow night to see what can be done to alleviate fuel conditions.

A representative of the Staples Coal Company said today:

"Local yards are lean and some almost bare of hard coal. Little if any anthracite is arriving by rail or water. Conditions which started far below normal in the Spring have been steadily growing worse, and have been aggravated by the so-called 'vacation' of the miners. That complication at the mines crippled the hard coal supply terribly. It virtually cut it off. What little was in the yards has disappeared or is rapidly melting away.

BLAME 'STRIKING' MINERS.

"Customers with Summer homes have been almost frantic for weeks to get orders filled. We have been offered bonuses, but stick to the prevailing prices and serve old customers first, and then run down the waiting list in rotation. Letting each family have enough to keep the range going, if possible.

"Why don't the newspapers print the facts about the coal situation? A recent published statement was to the effect that soft coal was selling at the mines for $7. That was absurd.

"It might surprise the public to learn that we have paid as high as $15.50 for hard coal at the mine. When mine rates and transportation are figured the dealers' profits are slim, not nearly so fabulous as generally imagined. It is possible that exports have tended to affect the prices, though the trade feels that the miners' so-called 'vacation' is the biggest obstruction just now. I don't think New England at present has more than 25 or 30 per cent. of the normal supply."

The State Commission on the Necessities of Life is also conferring with coal men. From all over New England come reports today of anthracite scarcity. Many suburban dealers reported that they "did not have a single pound of hard coal."

Fuel Situation Becomes Serious on Cape Cod

Sandwich, Sept. 23.—The anthracite and no relief in sight. The Cape is about the last section to receive its coal supply each year. There are no wholesale markets to draw upon nearer than Boston or New Bedford. In some towns public buildings, especially schools, are without coal, and unless some is forthcoming soon is feared they will have to close.

Consumers believe they will be forced to pay the highest prices for coal ever known on the Cape.

The demand for soft coal on the Cape is not very large except for the ocean or so fish freezing plants. Some of these plants feel the present scarcity and some has been obliged to close and transport the stock to another freezer.

The price for anthracite on the Cape is about $17.75 a ton at the bins. Some dealers are getting $18.

EXPECT INCREASE FOR TEACHERS TO WIN

That Boston teachers are practically certain of getting their flat $216 increase this year was the prediction of leaders of the better-pay-for-teachers movement today. These leaders said that neither Mayor Peters nor the Finance Commission would make any strenuous objection. Neither the mayor nor Chairman Michael H. Sullivan of the Finance Commission would affirm or deny the report. Chairman Sullivan said his organization still was collecting data. The $216 increase for all teachers would mean $1,500,000 more a year to the tax-payers.

S. F. PRATT, INVENTOR, IS DEAD IN NEWPORT

Newport, R. I., Sept. 23.—Samuel P. Pratt, the oldest in years and in length of residence here of the Newport Summer residents, died at his home on Bellevue avenue, after an illness of ten days. He was ninety-four years old. Born in Cohasset, Mass., in early life he engaged in landscape gardening. Later he invented the "caterpillar" attachment for sewing machines. In 1874 he came to Newport and built a house opposite the Redwood Library, where he had spent his Summers, going to Florida Winters.

Entertain Mrs. Coolidge

Marblehead, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge was guest of honor at a reception held by the Women's Republican committee of this town. Robert M. Washburn, Mrs. Katherine Lowrie and Mrs. Godfrey Hubbard were the speakers.

Much Coal in Sight, Dealers Assert

Washington, Sept. 23.—All wants of coal consumers, big and little, will be adequately met before Winter sets in, the National Coal Association declared in a review of the coal situation throughout the country. The statement said:

"Householders need not feel it necessary to fill their bins with the entire Winter's supply at this time. By taking only enough coal now to tide them over December 1, the entire situation will work out with no great privation to anyone."

Court Rules Against Unwashed Kisses

Chicago, Sept. 23.—The husband who expects to be greeted by wifey with a long, lingering and loving kiss o his return with the bacon after a hard day's work must first wash his face and hands.

This was the ruling today of one of the justices in the Court of Domestic Relations when Charles Wallace, target-setter at Camp Logan, was arraigned on the charge of failure to support his wife and two children.

"I quit," said Wallace, "because she had no affection for me. She wouldn't kiss me."

"You can bet I wouldn't kiss him," admitted the Mrs. "He would rush at me every evening in dirty face and dirty hands. I'll kiss him any time he washes up."

"Perfectly reasonable," decided the court. "Wallace, you had no good reason for dodging your responsibilities. You must pay your wife $50 a month."

$4,000,000 in Whiskey Consumed by Fire

Lawrenceburg, Ky., Sept. 23.—Seven thousand—count 'em, barrels of whiskey, real Kentucky rye, went up in flames here.

The terrible catastrophe which occurred in New York a few days ago caused by anarchists, should warn the people of Boston to take every precaution to prevent a similar occurrence in our city.

"Every necessary step to safeguard the lives of our citizens and property of our city has been taken by the authorities. We must uphold the principles for which the very flower of our country, the youth of America, died on European soil. We must teach the lesson of true Americanism that our laws are changed in an orderly method of the ballot and not by the torch and bomb.

"The recent threats of violence on lives of our citizens and the destruction of property of our city point out clearly the necessity of strict vigilance in the safeguarding of our American institutions.

CURTIS DECLINES TO LET VOLUNTEERS PARADE

Police Commissioner Curtis has sent a letter to Brenton H. MacCurdy, acting resident of the Boston Volunteer Police Association, declining to follow the suggestion that the volunteer policemen, who did duty during the police strike, be permitted to take part in the parade on October 21. The commissioner said the parade was for regular policemen only.

JURORS IGNORE PLOT THEORY

Officials and Drivers of Firms Handling Explosives Are Called in New York

By International News Service.

New York, Sept. 23.—Despite the fact that William J. Flynn, chief of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice, ridicules the theory that the Wall street explosion was an accident due to the careless handling of explosives, the Grand Jury today continued its inquiry strictly along that line.

The only witnesses scheduled to appear before that body are superintendents and drivers of companies that deal in explosives.

The witnesses include Carl Ditmar, head of the Ditmar Company, the superintendent and two drivers employed by that company, and George Eberhard, superintendent, and drivers employed by the E. I. duPont de Nemours Company.

They will be made to show records of all their wagons on the day of the blast.

The Grand Jury had called the explosives companies employing because of the number of persons who say they had seen a wagon resembling those used to transport explosives in the Wall street district shortly before the explosion.

Chief Flynn is positive that the blast resulted from a plot.

"Tales of the explosion being the result of an accident is plain bunk," he said. "We are not being deterred or diverted in our investigation by reports of a powder wagon being seen in the neighborhood. I am positive it was a criminal outrage."

A stenographer has told officials that she was warned by a man friend several days before the explosion to keep away from Wall street on September 16.

Mayor Peters Urges Vigilantes

Following threats of violence received by mail, Mayor Peters has issued an official proclamation urging the people of Boston to take every precaution to prevent in this city, a repetition of the bomb outrage perpetrated in Wall street, New York.

"The terrible catastrophe which occurred in New York a few days ago caused by anarchists, should warn the people of Boston to take every precaution to prevent a similar occurrence in our city.

"Every necessary step to safeguard the lives of our citizens and property of our city has been taken by the authorities. We must uphold the principles for which the very flower of our country, the youth of America, died on European soil. We must teach the lesson of true Americanism that our laws are changed in an orderly method of the ballot and not by the torch and bomb.

"The recent threats of violence on lives of our citizens and the destruction of property of our city point out clearly the necessity of strict vigilance in the safeguarding of our American institutions.

"Let every citizen assume the responsibility of protecting the lives of his fellow citizens and property of our city in this crisis. Fall River and New Bedford Guarded Against Bombs

Fall River, Sept. 23.—Unusual precautions were taken throughout Fall River and New Bedford today against threatened dhomb outrages. In this city the conditions which prevailed reminded one of Boston during the police strike.

Marshal Feeney had every member of his force on duty, with the great bulk of them in the heart of the city guarding City Hall and banking buildings. Automobiles were not permitted to stop before any of these places. People were would pause to look things over were summarily ordered to move on.

Mayor Kay was about his duties as usual, not the least disturbed by the letter he had received threatening the blow up of the City Hall, two mills and a bank. Special police guarded his office. At the mills the city police are reinforced by secial guards.

At New Bedford every member of the police department was on duty either in uniform or plain clothes. The lans there were similar to those in effect in Fall River.

BOSTON IS SAFE FOR BABIES DESPITE THE HIGH MORTALITY

SURPRISE IN DEATH RATES

In One Ward Loss Is Heavy and in Adjoining District it Is Low

Boston is still a very safe place for babies, even though, numerically, statistics seem to indicate that Boston's infant death rate is more than twice as large as Brookline's, for instance.

And Brookline, which apparently loses the fewest babies of all American communities cited by the American Child Hygiene Association, in its annual report, is not really entitled to the lowest place on the list, for many Brookline babies are born in Boston, and when dying in Boston hospitals, are set against Boston's and not Brookline's death rate.

MORTALITY RATE LOW.

In the report of the Child Hygiene Association, Dr. Philip Van Ingen of New York, the president, points out that the baby crop in 1919, was the best crop the country brought forth in all its history. In that year 880,000 babies' births were reported. Probably two and a half million births was the country's total, since, in our progressive, highly civilized country, in only twenty-two States are ninety per cent. of the births registered.

"Last year, however, was encouraging for the baby. For, in 269 cities taken together, the mortality rate of children dying per thousand of the population, was eighty-seven, an encouraging figure," Dr. Van Ingen points out.

Now, coming back to Boston, our city's figures of 104.88, for 1916; of 99.96, for 1917, and of 114.54, for 1918, of baby deaths per thousand population, against Brookline's 40 deaths per thousand, and Seattle's 54 per thousand, would seem that Boston is a dangerous city. But Boston, despite the figures, is very safe. Here's the reason:

Brookline mothers, as well as mothers from all over the suburbs, come to Boston for their confinements. Sickly infants from Brookline, and all the suburbs, are brought to Boston for treatment in Boston's children's hospitals and clinics. These children, dying, are set against Boston's infant death rate, making the figures high. But, when these deaths are deducted, Boston is found to be about as desirable a place for the little citizen to be born in as he could wish if shown the statistics himself, and given his choice.

CONDITIONS VARY.

And, when it comes to Boston's statistics, there are many interesting things Dr. William C. Woodward, commissioner of health for the city, would like explained. "Many of these phenomena cannot be explained until statistics are compiled far more carefully than now," says the doctor. "For instance, I would be very interested to know why, in South Boston, in two adjacent wards, 10 and 11, the infant mortality of one is comparatively low, of the other far too high. Some things about statistics we do know, however.

Interesting, in the matter of the Boston baby's health, is the record which states the various causes for baby deaths in the last year in Boston completely on record. That year was 1918. In that year of the 2298 babies who died, out of the entire population, 462 died of premature birth; 201 of congenital debility; 101 of injuries at birth; 95 of diseases peculiar to early infancy; 16 of congenital malformation; 80 of congenital heart trouble; 51 of other congenital troubles.

U. S. ORDERS CUT IN CAFE PRICES

Buffalo Manager of Childs' Restaurant Threatened With Grand Jury Action

Buffalo, Sept. 23.—An immediate reduction in prices or the alternative of a Federal grand jury investigation was offered H. E. Mettler, manager of a Childs restaurant in this city, by U. S. District Attorney Stephen T. Lockwood, who has been gathering evidence in food profiteering cases here for weeks. Mettler is from Boston.

"Cost prices to restaurants are back to the 1919 level," said Mr. Lockwood, "and there should be a sweeping reduction in prices charged in Buffalo cafes."

Mettler, summoned before the district attorney, was confronted by a mass of data of food prices collected by the Department of Justice at the Federal official's request.

Mr. Lockwood demanded that Mettler produce figures to show that the restaurant under his control was not profiteering. The latter said that he was unable to do this as all records were kept in the New York office. Lockwood said that the figures would be sent for at once, adding that nothing would be taken for granted in the inquiry.

The District Attorney said he was convinced the Childs management could operate in this city at a profit at the prices prevailing in 1919.

Cheaper Sugar in Sight, Says Palmer Aide

Washington, Sept. 23.—Cheaper sugar is in sight, according to J. G. Weatherby, incharge of the sugar situation at the Department of Justice.

"California beet sugar is now on the market at $14.80 a hundred pounds, and the mid-West product will appear about December," said Weatherly. "Cuba will begin grinding sugar cane about December 15. It is said that the raw product will be marketed there at seven cents, or about $8.26 per hundred pounds in the United States. This might mean 14-cent sugar."

Pittsburgh Restaurateurs Forced to Cut Prices

Pittsburgh, Sept. 23.—Prices on a dozen different articles of food were sliced here, the result of a threat of the Allegheny County Fair Price Commissioner to prosecute all hotel and restaurant keepers in the city unless the reduction took place.

TIMELY DISCUSSION ON MARRIAGE QUESTION

Young Jimmy Lezmington and pretty Sally Orphus marry, honeymoon, settle down in the loveliest of little homes and—flash!—separate.

In a month or two they are on the way to the divorce court.

Why?

Henry J. Lofterious and Emma Jane Ponsonby march down the middle aisle to the altar, take the customary vows, go to live in the suburbs and live happy ever after. Looks like their silver wedding will be one big time.

Why?

Why? Why? Why?

Can anybody tell?

Having polled a number of the married folk among his acquaintances the editor of the American takes pleasure in announcing the beginning of a timely discussion of the utmost importance to New England, America and the race in general.

The subject is, "Is marriage a success?"

We shall be glad to have your opinion on the subject. Meanwhile, permit us to call attention to the fact that it begins in these colmns tomorrow and to most respectfully suggest that you ask your regular newsdealer to save a copy of the American every day for you until we have come to a decision.

SEVEN ARRESTED IN MEDFORD GAMING RAID

Ernest Brincle, of No. 1 Sunnyside terrace, Medford, and six other men were arrested charged with gambling when the police swooped down on the above address and found the men shooting dice. Several pair of dice and considerable money was found, the police allege.

"The campaign being conducted by the Boston American against excessive prices in Boston restaurants is bound to bring about a reduction," said John J. Mitchell, collector of internal revenue, one of the latest persons to join the Bring-Your-Lunch-From-Home movement inaugurated by this newspaper.

Mr. Mitchell is fully aware of the profiteering that is going on in Boston restaurants. That restaurateurs in this city are charging exorbitant prices for food every patron knows.

This newspaper will prove, in a special article, now in preparation, that they ARE profiteering. It has obtained figures from several sources that will leave no doubt in the mind of the reader that the people are being exploited by the restaurant proprietors of Boston.

The restaurants of probably no city in the country charge such high prices for food as do those here. It was for the purpose of smashing these profiteering prices down to normal that the American started the present movement.

HEARS PLAN LAUDED.

In discussing the lunch-from-home plan Mr. Mitchell said: "The movement is very popular. I have heard many people speaking favorably of it. There is no doubt in my mind that the prices charged by many Boston restaurants are too high. The proprietors here have jumped prices much higher than those of other cities. I am convinced that the lunch-from-home clubs materially reduce prices."

Mrs. Alzira W. Sandwall, health instructor of the Massachusetts Board of Health, is interested in the American's movement to such an extent that she has volunteered to give talks to the women employes of the State House when the new lunch room there is opened. She will tell the girls what they should eat at noon and why. She also plans on preparing suggestive menus that they may follow if they wish to increase their efficiency as workers.

Mrs. Sandwall became interested in the matter through Mrs. Vella C. Reeve, who is co-operating with Fred H. Kimball, superintendent of buildings, in arranging a lunch room for the State House girls, which will soon be opened.

"I believe the Boston American is doing good work for the people in suggesting that workers carry lunches from home," said Mrs. Sandwall. "There is no doubt in my mind that the prices charged by many Boston restaurants are unfair. I am glad to know that the girls at the State House are to have a room where they may eat their luncheons in private. I am also glad of the opportunity to tell them about the things they should eat and to point out why they should eat proper food.

"In the first place many girls get up too late to eat a proper breakfast.

TOO MANY SWEETS EATEN.

"The average girl today eats the wrong things for luncheon. She eats too many sweets. She also eats too much candy between meals. That dulls the appettite so that she does not eat enough at meal times. If a girl is hungry during the morning before lunch she should eat an apple or drink a glass of milk instead of eating candy.

"Good things for persons to eat for luncheon are fish chowder, thick soup, bread and butter, egg salad, scalloped dishes, creamed vegetables, good sandwiches, such as olive and cheese, and milk. The dark breads are best. Puddings with milk are also good, as well as all dairy products. Everyone should remember that what they put into their stomach is fuel for the body, and they should not judge solely by the taste of food as to whether it should be eaten.

"Four glasses of milk should be drunk daily by every grown person whose stomach can assimilate it. Tea and coffee do the body no good.

"On the other hand they are harmful. Hands should be washed prior to luncheon. Fruit should be washed before it is eaten. Persons should not eat from the same dish with any-one else, and they should not drink from the same glass without washing it. They should not use the same fork or spoon without washing."

4 MEN AND WOMAN HELD AS COUNTERFEITERS

Providence, R. I., Sept. 23.—Tony Korol was arrested in this city as a member of a band of alleged bank note raisers, four of whom were arrested at practically the same time in New York and Elizabeth, N. J. Secret service officials state that the band raised $1 and $2 bills to $20 and distributed them in New York, Connecticut and New Jersey. Leon Kynomyk and Joseph and Dora Denisewick were held in $500 bail in New York. John Atamance was held in Elizabeth.

SMITH QUITS THE COALITION

Vice-President Resigns After Split Over the League of Nations

Friction between members of the Loyal Coalition as to the position it should take on political questions in the United States has resulted in the resignation of Randolph Welford Smith, vice-president and chairman of the Committee on Publication.

The split came about as a result of Smith's outspoken support of the League of Nations and his desire to campaign for Governor Cox. His resignation was accepted at a special meeting of the organization.

Demarest Lloyd, president of the Loyal Coalition, in announcing Smith's resignation, said: "We were very much displeased with a speech made by Mr. Smith before the Democratic convention, when he spoke in very poor taste about the Republican convention which had just closed in Chicago."

There was no objection to Smith attacking Irish leaders for trying to have an Irish plank recognized, but his remarks supporting the League of Nations were objectionable, Lloyd stating that the Loyal Coalition is not supporting any candidate.

The organization will continue its fight to prevent the City of Boston paying for the MacSwiney cablegram sent by the City Council to Premier Lloyd George. Charles H. McIntyre, counsel for the coalition, and Lloyd visited Mayor Peters and requested that he stop payment by the city. The Mayor will consult Corporation Counsel Hill.

DEFEND TEACHER WHO IS NAMED IN DIVORCE SUIT

Friends of Miss Alice M. Clifford, the Melrose school teacher named as corespondent in the divorce action of Mrs. Ethel M. Wakeman of West Roxbury, rallied generously to her support today. John C. Anthony, superintendent of schools in Melrose, was among those to declare his confidence that Mrs. Wakeman's charges that Miss Clifford was intimate with her husband, Dr. Rolla Wakeman, were not true. "She is a most estimable young woman," said the superintendent. "The children think highly of her. Everybody in the community does the same." W. Jennings Patron, her counsel, declared that Mrs. Wakeman's "evidence" showed no misconduct on the part of the school teacher and Dr. Wakeman. He said the worst construction possible was that they had been indiscreet.

CLAPP SUES WIFE FOR HOUSEHOLD GOODS

William E. Clapp, a Boston lawyer, has filed a bill in equity against his wife and the Salem Storage Warehouse Company charging that on or about August 19, without right, she obtained entrance to their former home at No. 20 Holton street, Danvers, and removed the furniture and fixtures, which he asserts were his personal property.

BANK TELLER $16,000 SHORT

Arthur H. W. Cayhue, Formerly of Holyoke, Arrested on Denver Charge

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Arthur H. W. Cayhue, first lieutenant in the United States army during the war, more recently paying teller of the West Side State bank of Denver, Col., and prior to the war paying teller of the Holyoke, Mass., National Bank, was arrested here today, charged with the larceny of $16,000 from the Denver bank.

Cayhue's sisters reside in Holyoke and Springfield, Mass., and on entering the service he was registered as coming from the former city. Representatives of the Boston office of the Pinkertons traced him through those cities and eventually into Plattsburgh, where he received the training that won him a commission.

Cayhue left the army in October, 1919, and in November was employed as paying teller at the Denver bank. On the night of August 14 last he left for his vacation, with everything apparently proper about his accounts.

Several days later a depositor appeared to make a deposit and was informed he had no account. He insisted he had and stated that his last previous deposit had been $319. Auditors were put to work on the books and it was found after considerable investigating that Cayhue had manipulated his accounts to a considerable extent, the police allege.

The audit, which took weeks, finally revealed the shortage of $16,000. Cayhue's record was inquired into and an investigation made at Holyoke, but nothing was found wrong there. He served with the 57th and 64th Infantry and in the United States was at Fort Bliss and Camp Dix.

WOMEN PROTEST OPIUM TRAFFIC TO GEDDES

Washington, Sept. 23.—The following letter was sent to Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, today: "The American women pickets for the enforcement of America's war aims protest against the horrors of the British government traffic in opium rapidly sweeping across our country. In the name of civilization we appeal to the English people through you to stop the government monopoly of opium by forbidding its production. No nation can boast of its civilizing influence that maintains a government department to look after its trade interests in opium—in other words, its traffic in the souls of the weaker peoples.

LEXINGTON DEATH TRAP HAS BEEN REMOVED

The Boston & Maine Railroad has abolished the "death trap" between the Lexington railroad station and Merriam street. There has been a gravel walk between the two tracks. In a few years two deaths have occurred. The gravel walk has been cut away a number of feet from the Merriam street end and two rows of so-called cow catchers tracks have been placed next to the crossing, making it difficult to walk there.

MISSING ARLINGTON TAILOR IS SOUGHT

The police of Arlington and Boston have been asked to assist in locating Harry Ragolsky, a tailor, of No. 79 Gibbert street, Arlington Heights, who has been mysteriously missing from his home since Tuesday morning.

Cut in Flivvers to Bring General Price Slashing

Chicago, Sept. 23.—When Henry Ford cut the price of flivvers Tuesday he started a ball rolling that will affect practically all industries, in the opinion of Chicago business men. Bankers and merchants agree that all high prices are due to skid with automobiles, but more gradually.

George M. Reynolds, president Continental and Commercial National Bank, holds that high prices did not result so much from high wages as from the difference in foreign exchange, which has kept American industry from participating in world trade. He sees a decline soon.

CAN'T SELL GOODS.

"I was one of those fellows who went around preaching that the United States would be in a position at the end of the war to get a great deal of world trade," Mr. Reynolds said today, "but here we are, the one nation that possesses the greatest amount of goods, unable to sell them on a fair basis to foreign nations because foreign exchange has shrunk so much.

"Manufacturers have had a large amount of their goods made up. Now they must liquidate to re-establish their credit. That will bring prices down."

D. F. Kelly, manager of a large department store, likewise sees lower prices before long, but predicts that wages will stay up, or, at least, will be the last to come down.

"Wages should be the last thing to be touched," he said. "As the people have money, they spend it. As they prosper, all prosper."

Here are some of the things which are said to have already come down: Leather has taken a marked drop. Silks in some cases are being sold lower than the retailer paid for them. Some cotton goods are lower. Woolens are slated for a reduction. Sugar is back to 13 cents. Many vegetables are lower than this time last year.

Mr. Reynolds believes that the excess profits tax has something to do with the high prices. Manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers all add to their regular profits enough to take care of the excess profits, he said, and the entire burden is passed along to the consumer.

"Once that is removed," he said, "we will get back to normal progress, production and prices."

IRISH FRIENDS SCORE COX

Make Bitter Attack on League of Nations and on Inhumanity of Great Britain

New York, Sept. 23.—Resolutions adopted at a secret session of the national council of the Friends of Irish Freedom were made public today.

The League of Nations is bitterly attacked, and fault is found with Governor Cox stating that the League provides the Irish with an opportunity for obtaining their independence.

Secretary of State Colby is called upon to enter a vigorous protest against the action of the British Admiralty in closing Irish ports to American vessels.

The government is also urged to demand the release of MacSwiney and the other hunger strikers.

A general protest is made reading as follows:

"We protest to the civilized world against the barbarous, cruel and inhuman methods of the English Government in its desperate efforts to overthrow the republic of Ireland and to impose on the Irish people the rule of an alien oligarchy in violation of the American principle, that all governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."

HAVE YOU A GUPPY IN YOUR HOME?

Have you a little guppy in your rain barrel?

If you haven't, do you know that you are courting the deadly, pestiferous mosquito?

Do you know that, possessing the guppy, the little mosquitoes will run from your rain barrel down the hungry little tummies of the guppies and that you will have no more yellow fever, or malaria, or typhoid, or whooping cough, or measles, or backache, or toothache, or housemaid's knee—or—well—at any rate, get a guppy and try it.

Place it in your rain barrel and then sit on your front porch in peace. The guppy works while you rock.

For the benefit of all unscientific souls, let it be said that Lieutenant Edward Peterson of the naval medical corps, on duty in the Virgin Islands as chief sanitary officer of the municipality of St. Thomas and St. John has made to the surgeon-general a report that the guppy, a little fish, which inhabits both salt and fresh waters, if placed in any receptacles where water has to stand will eat the mosquito larvae and keep the house free of the little biting pest.

Dr. J. A. Cushman, director of the

New England Natural History Rooms on Boylston street, was appealed to.

"The guppy," said he, "is a member of the killifish family of fish. Plainly speaking the guppy is just an ordinary little minnow coming in three species. One species will live in fresh water.

"There are objections, however. What," asked the learned doctor, "are the guppies to eat in the family rain barrel, after the mosquitoes are all eaten up? Are you going to run round hunting them up more mosquitoes?"

"Will the guppy, alias minnow, alias killifish, eat up the mosquito?" the doctor was asked.

Answer—"Surely."

"Then, doctor, could we not have a new species of household pet? Why not teach the guppy tricks, between mosquito seasons, tricks such as begging for a lump of sugar, or saying its prayers at—at—well the correct time to say prayers?"

"No," rejoined the doctor, "that can never be."

"Why?" came the pleading question.

"Because," said the doctor, "minnows, guppies, killifish, have no brains. No fish has many, the guppy least of all. They're pretty little things, but brainless. No, the guppy may never be taught to beg for sugar, or to hop lightly from drain pipe to water barrel, doing a double somersault in the air."

"Oh," you sigh, "what a pity!"

Anyhow, import a guppy for your stagnant water, if you wish. But don't expect it to do tricks or join in the family conversation.

60 FACTORIES IN LYNN TO CLOSE

Hope of Settling Dispute With Shoe Workers Is Practically Abandoned

Announcement is made by the Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' Association that the cutting of shoes will be suspended tomorrow in all factories identified with the association. These number about 60.

With this notification all hope of an immediate settlement of the wage controversy between three Lynn unions of the United Shoe Workers of America and the manufacturers was practically abandoned.

Thousands of hands will be thrown out of work in consequence. Many of the workers support the attitude of the manufacturers, who refuse a wage increase.

No Break in Deadlock With Haverhill Workers

Haverhill, Sept. 23.—No break in the deadlock between the 14,000 members of the Shoe Workers' Protective Union and the manufacturers is in sight and a prolonged struggle is predicted by both sides.

The Manufacturers' Association is scheduled to hold a meeting today, but little hope is held out for a change in the situation. Many shoe firms have begun laying off their office help and factory foremen.

MELROSE PROTESTS 20-CENT CARFARE

Melrose citizens headed by Mayor Adams, protesting against the increase in fares on the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway, have filed objections against the two-zone system, requiring a 20-cent fare for a ride of only a mile or so. Factory owners complain that employes are quitting rather than pay the increased fare.

Secret Bills in Lynn Investigation; Ponzi Agent Is Accused

Lawrence, Sept. 23.—A total of 110 indictments were returned here by the Essex County grand jury in its final report for 1920.

Investigation of the so-called Lynn auto thefts resulted in a secret indictment being returned against a Gloucester man, charging larceny. Two John Doe indictments were also returned, one charging larceny and the other receiving stolen property.

A no bill was returned in the case of Benjamin Ray, a Lynn councilman, who was involved in the investigation.

Charles H. Phillips, Lester Cole, Pericles Sakellison and Eli Valeri, employes of the Old Colony Exchange Company, were indicted on charges of larceny.

Indictments were returned against G. Lester Southwell, Old Colony manager at Haverhill, charging larceny in eight counts, and Joseph Vetri, attache of Ponzi's Lynn office, also charging larceny.

Murder 'Confession' Written On Wall

New York, May 23.—A "confession" of murder, written on the wall in the bathroom of a cottage in course of construction at Brooklyn, may lead to the uncovering of a crime in Manchester, Vt.

According to the "confession," the writer, whose name is being withheld by the police, is being haunted by the face of his victim.

The "confession," in part, reads: "I killed Marie Agnor of Manchester, Vt., June 15, 1920. I am the man, not James Droucher. Notify the police so that he may go free. I killed her with a gun, which will be found at the toll gate at the road leading to Rutland."

Manchester police authorities have been notified.

MAN WHO MOVED 25,000 PIANOS DIES AT 76

Manchester, N. H., Sept. 23.—Colonel Franklin Pierce Colby, aged seventy-six, for more than half a century one of the city's most successful business men, is dead at his home, No. 38 Bridge street. For many years Colonel Colby conducted a trucking business on a large scale, and among other things claimed to have moved more than 25,000 pianos. For many years he also conducted a bill posting business in conjunction with his other activities, and was a member of the New England and National Bill Posters' Association. He was a close friend of Buffalo Bill.

CHELSEA RAG DEALERS FREED IN STORAGE CASE

The cases of nine rag dealers charged with storing rags in an unsafe buildings contrary to the law came up in the Chelsea court. Seven of the cases were found not guilty and two cases against the others were dismissed. Judge Bosson ruled that the ordinance under which they were cited to court was unconstitutional because the powers were delegated to the building inspector, an officer who is under control of the Board of Aldermen.

FRANCIS J. HORGAN QUITS DEMOCRATS

Francis J. Horgan, twice elected to the State Senate as a Democrat from the Roxbury district and twice Democratic candidate for Congress against George Holden Tinkham, has withdrawn from that party because of its championship of the League of Nations. It is believed that Horgan's decision to leave the Democratic party was hastened by his defeat for that party's nomination for the Senate.

OPERA NOW A BARGAIN, SAYS HERBERT JOHNSON

Chicago, Sept. 23.—"Opera has become a bargain," declared Herbert Johnson, director of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, who returned from abroad today. "The price of admission to our opera is not much more now than the price of admission to the theatres. For that prices people can hear a symphony concert, listen to the world's best singing, look upon the best stage sets and sit through a drama to boot."

DENY COX TRAIN WRECK PLOT

Railroad Employes Assert Crash Was Result of Spread Rails

By International News Service.

Enroute with Governor Cox, Deming, N. M., Sept. 23.—None the worse for his experience when his special train was wrecked a mile north of Peoria, Arizona, throwing him a distance of twelve feet, Governor James M. Cox was today speeding toward Albuquerque an a special schedule following a detour over the Southern Pacific which necessitated the elimination of several Arizona addresses.

Rumors that the derailment had been caused by an obstruction on the rails were dispelled by railway employes on the train at the time.

Division Engineer Walker, who was riding on the first of the two locomotives hauling the Cox special, denied emphatically there was anything on the track.

"In my opinion," he stated, "the derailment was caused either by spreading rails or by some piece of mechanism on the first engine dropping to the ground."

Engineer Charles Nichols of the second locomotive, who suffered a broken leg and possibly internal injuries, though in great pain, was eager to talk to Governor Cox when the latter came rushing to the scene.

"I want you to know that we didn't get you in the ditch on purpose," said the injured man, grasping the Governor's hand.

"I know that perfectly well," said Cox. "I knew you boys are all for me."

"You're right there, Governor," said Nichols, "we're all for you."

Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate People In Two Weeks' Time

In many instances, says City Physician, persons have suffered for years without knowing what made them feel tired, listless and run-down when their real trouble was lack of iron in the blood—how to tell.

If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill, you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied a multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation people become generally weakened, nervous and all run down and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night, others are sleepy and tired all day; some fussy and irritable; some skinny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance. In such cases it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your fagging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what anyone tells you, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by new remedies, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like good old iron to put color in your cheeks and good, sound, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and one of the best blood builders in the world. The only trouble was that the old forms of inorganic iron, like tincture of iron, iron acetate, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated, and for these reasons they frequently did more harm than good. But with the discovery of the newer forms of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron, for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth and is almost immediately beneficial.

Manufacturers' Note—Nuxated Iron, which is recommended above, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, and does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

Multiplies	Multiplies	Multiplies	Fights film	Polishes
the salivary flow—Nature's tooth protector	the starch digestant in the saliva	the alkalinity of the saliva	in two efficient ways	so teeth glisten and film cannot easily adhere

Watch these five effects

Repeated with every application

All statements approved by authorities

Dental science has found ways to bring these five desired effects whenever you brush teeth.

Leading dentists everywhere advise this method now. Millions of people already employ it. Ask us to send it free to you, and see what it does in ten days. It will be a revelation.

To combat the film

The purpose is to combat film on teeth.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Old methods of teeth cleaning did not end it. So month after month, on countless teeth, it may do ceaseless damage.

Most tooth troubles are now traced to film. And those troubles, despite the tooth brush, have been constantly increasing. So film-removal is nowadays considered all-important.

It dims and destroys

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So dental science has for years sought ways to fight that film. Efficient ways have now been found and proved by convincing tests. Authorities approve and advise them. And the teeth of millions are already being protected by them.

The methods are combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And a 10-Day Tube is offered free so all may quickly know it.

Millions of white teeth

Millions now use Pepsodent. The glistening teeth seen everywhere show one thing that it means.

To children it is most important, for young teeth are most subject to decay. Men who smoke and stain the film will see conspicuous effects. Women's teeth will be made to look their best.

Quick, visible results

The benefits of Pepsodent are quick and apparent. You see and feel them every time you use it. Within ten days you'll realize well how much this new way means.

One ingredient is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. The alkalinity of the saliva is multiplied also, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

The film itself is twice a day combated in most effective ways.

Everyone should know

Everybody, young and old, should know of these effects. Old methods of teeth cleaning do not bring them.

Send the coupon for the 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch all the results, and the book we send will tell the meaning of them.

Do this for your sake and the children's sake. It means whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. It means results you want and which you cannot get without it.

Cut out the coupon now. This is too important to forget.

JAPS ASK RACE EQUALITY

Demand U. S. Shall Give Them Same Citizenship Rights as Other Nations

Washington, Sept. 23.—The Japanese government has broadened the issue arising over the proposed exclusion of her nationals from owning land in California. It was learned from official sources here.

She will now insist that the United States formally recognize the equality of her citizens with those of any other nation. Such recognition would take the form of an official declaration, similar to the one proposed at the Versailles conference and withdrawn by Japan.

On that occasion two great Japanese demands were before the conference. She insisted first upon a statement recognizing the equality of her race; second, that Shantung, with its vast resources in minerals, its great German developments and its 40,000,000 of people, be given to her.

The council compromised by giving Shantung. Now she demands that the United States alone give her the far more desirable concession which the Council of Nations, acting upon a plea from Australia, expressly denied.

Husky Men are Eating Salads

They Are Also Eating Rich Pastry and Highly Seasoned Foods That Call for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

In the big, palatial restaurants of the large cities their principal patronage comes from the out-of-town visitors. No lunch counter sandwiches for them. They like the entrees, salads, rich pastry and a cup of black coffee with rich cream. This combination is likely to overcrowd the stomach, to cause acidity with sour risings, queasiness, a feeling of fulness and other such distresses due to indigestion or dyspepsia. Wherever you go in any city in the U. S. or Canada you will find Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on sale at 60 cents a box. Take one or two after eating as they relieve the acid stomach and at the same time help digest the food.

We Never Shut Down

Live stock keeps coming to market and we have to keep buying it and putting it through our plants whether conditions are good or poor.

Swift & Company has no control over the quantity of live stock shipped to market. Live-stock producers ship their animals to the big stock-yards markets, where they are sold through commission men who represent the shippers.

The result is that the live-stock supply fluctuates from week to week. We have to buy the animals, however many or few there are; and they have to be handled without delay.

We cannot hold dressed beef, lamb, mutton, veal, fresh pork, or any other fresh perishable meats, but have to sell them at the prevailing market prices within a few days. If we try to sell at half a cent under the prevailing prices, retailers would naturally buy from us as long as our supply lasted, and that supply would be used up very quickly. On the other hand, if we try to sell for half a cent higher than the market prices, the retailers, who shop around, would buy from our competitors and we would have our fresh meat left on our hands. We have to sell our products every day at prevailing market prices whatever those prices may be.

Half a cent up or down in the wholesale price means the difference between profit and loss to us.

LEGION MEN URGE WAR RISK BUREAU SHAKEUP

New England delegates to the national convention of the American Legion at Cleveland next week were being urged today to demand greater efficiency in the War Risk Bureau in the Legion's name.

With wounded and disabled war veterans in this district forced to wait months, and in a few instances years, for their compensation from the government unless they are fortunate enough to secure the assistance of a congressman, senator, Red Cross or other agency with a "pull," it was believed that their cases were typical and thousands of former service men throughout the country who are suffering from injuries received while fighting for their country have been subjected to similar delays.

Instances have come to light of war veterans and their families being reduced to needy circumstances as a result of the government's "red tape." This situation has a detrimental influence upon the health of the men, and in several cases is believed to actually retard their recovery.

At Parker Hill Hospital there is on record the case of one disabled veteran who was compelled to leave before his treatment had been concluded, in order to secure employment and support his mother and grandmother.

[illegible] had applied for compensation, but, after a long wait for it, was forced by lack of funds to quit the hospital against the advice of physicians.

NEDS "INFLUENCE."

It is the exception, rather than the rule, Red Cross workers at that hospital said, for a disabled war veteran to obtain his compensation without exerting some outside influence upon the government.

Popularly the patient who knows a Congressman or has a friend who does is regarded as "in luck."

In a large number of cases such influence must be used to even secure an acknowledgement that the application has been received in Washington.

A canvas of patients at Parker Hill Hospital made by the Red Cross for the Boston American on Tuesday of this week showed that of 300 ex-soldiers who had applied for compensation, ninety-nine had not even had an acknowledgement. On an average their applications had been in about two months, some were longer and some shorter.

Of the total number only forty-six had received acknowledgements without bringing outside pressure to bear. Complying with the forms laid down by the War Risk Bureau was not sufficient for the others.

Of the four hundred and fifty patients in the hospital on September 15, Red Cross records show that 213 were not receiving compensation. One hundred and fifty-four had had their claims pending six weeks or longer on that date.

Arthur Rivet filed his second claim for an allowance on July 12, but up to yesterday had received no acknowledgement of its receipt.

ARMY AIDS PROMPTLY.

That claims are handled promptly by the army is shown in the case of A. Mitchell, a patient in Ward S. Mitchell filed his claim for compensation on January 7 of this year before being discharged from the army. It was awarded within two weeks. Quick action is the rule, Red Cross workers say, when the claim is forwarded through army channels.

The chief difficulty, according to the war veterans, is with the War Risk Bureau. Those who have been under the Federal Board of Vocational Training, and returned to the hospital for further treatment, said that instead of their allowance continuing automatically it was held up for varying periods.

No complaint of the vocational board was heard from the veterans. Under that body, they said, their compensation was paid regularly and promptly twice a month. There are a number of cases on the hospital records where former service men have failed to receive allowances since transfer to the hospital.

The scale of compensation under the Wark Risk Bureau also is generally lower than that of the other department of the government, the vocational board.

One man who lost a leg at Chateau-Thiery received a compensation of $125 monthly for himself and dependents while in vocational training, but when sent to the hospital he passed to the jurisdiction of the War Risk Bureau and his allowance was cut $30 a month.

An Unfailing Way To Banish Hairs

(Beauty Notes)

Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then removed and the skin washed and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure you buy real delatone.—Advertisement.

Says Doctors Must Be Psychologists

New York, Sept. 23.—Doctors of the future will have to be more than mere pulse takers and cough medicine prescribers. They will have to examine into mental ills, and prescribe for community ailments. Doctors of the coming days will, in short, have to be both psychologists and sociologists.

This is the gist of the address by Dr. J. A. Fordyce, professor of dermatolory, in opening the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, today.

300 FALL RIVER TENANTS TO FIGHT RENT RAISES

Fall River, Sept. 23.—Three hundred tenants residing in houses belonging to a local estate have decided to hold a mass meeting Friday night when they will form an organization to protect themselves and their families. One of the tenants says: "We are going to ask for another hearing before the local rent commission. If we don't get it we will appeal to the courts. Our rents have been increased from 60 to 80 per cent. during the last few months and this is enough."

WILL THRESH OUT VIEWS ON MARRIAGE

A discussion open to all New England will begin tomorrow in the Boston American.

The subject is, "Is marriage a success?"

The question has never been threshed out in the good old New England way. It is high time New England tackled and settled it. Reports show an alarming increase in the number of New England divorces.

A letter to the editor from a young wife led him to appeal to a score of married persons of his acquaintance for their opinions. Every one has responded. Some of them are very, very happy in the married state and some of them are——well, not so happy. You know how these things are. Consider the married folk among your own acquaintances.

T'ese letters from married friends of the editor will form the basis of a general discussion in which every reader may take part. The subject will be treated with becoming seriousness. We want the truth. Everybody wants the truth. The truth must be told.

"Is marriage a success?" begins in the American tomorrow. Readers should not miss a line of it.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

Sugar—
refined granulated sugar the same as you use with coffee

WOULD you use syrup or glucose to sweeten your coffee? Not if you could help it. Why? Flavor, of course!

That's why we use only purest granulated sugar to give to Bond Bread its dainty flavor.

We could use syrup—or other substitutes. That would save us a lot of money—

But Bond Bread's "home-made" flavor would suffer. And we would be breaking our faith with the housewives who showed us how to make Bond Bread.

The Bond (printed on every wrapper) is our pledge to you that Bond Bread's home-made goodness shall never vary.

Sugar is only one item. Purest flour, yeast, milk, water, salt and lard—all free from substitutes—that is what Bond Bread is made of.

These ingredients are guaranteed by our Bond from which Bond Bread gets its name.

ADMITS COX IN 'WET' FAVOR

Liquor Dealers' Head Tells of Individual Leanings to Democratic Candidate

Washington, Sept. 23. — George T. Carrol, of Elizabeth, N. J., president of the National Retail Liquor Dealers, admitted before the Senate campaign fund investigating committee, the leanings of liquor dealers individually toward Governor Cox.

"How much money have you raised to date?" he was asked. "Less than $2,500," he stated. "It is coming awfully slow."

"Have there been any protests from the Democratic committee because of your activity along this line?" asked Senator Edge of New Jersey (Republican).

"None that I have heard," replied the witness.

"That's most unfair," protested Senator Pomerene, of Ohio (Democrat), as he clashed with Senator Edge over the propriety of such a line of inquiry.

HARDING GOING TO 7 STATES

Candidate May Extend Trip to Include New Hampshire and Connecticut

Marion, O., Sept. 23.—Senator Warren G. Harding today approved plans for two short campaign trips in October. He will speak in seven States, two of which, Oklahoma and Tennessee, normally are Democratic.

In the month of October, when Harding visits New York, it is not unlikely that he may go into New Hampshire to help re-elect Senator Moses and into Connecticut to aid the candidacy of Senator Brandegee.

The first is a mid-western trip, with a speech at Omaha the evening of October 7 and another at Kansas City, Mo., the evening of October 8, and a third at Oklahoma the evening of October 9. En route to Omaha there will be a stop at Des Moines October 7 and possibly a forenoon meeting.

"The second trip contemplates a hurried invasion of the border States. The party will leave Marion October 12 for Chattanooga, Tenn., where the nominee will speak the evening of October 13. The following evening he will speak in Louisville, Ky., and on the evening of October 15 will address a meeting at Indianapolis, Ind. The last meeting of this trip will be at St. Louis, Mo., the night of October 16."

Seeks to Have Seized Liquor Returned

The first attempt to secure the return of liquor which was alleged to have been taken unlawfully under the prohibition law will be heard next Tuesday by Judge Morton, of the U. S. District Court, who will give a hearing on Michael Anderson's writ of mandamus for the return of a barrel and a half of whiskey. The writ asks that Prohibition Enforcement Officer William J. Anderson contends that the liquor was acquired lawfully before Jan. 16, 1920.

Doctor Tells How to Strengthen Eyesight 50 Per Cent in One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

NOTE—Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent. in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in this city by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

The Sight of a Prominent Banker Cheering Like a Schoolboy

and a Back Bay society woman whistling was, of course, unusual. But let the six authorities who saw it tell you.

"From the slow lifting of the curtain amid the plaintive strains of 'Home, Sweet Home,' to its fall amid the tumultuous cheers of the wildly enthusiastic audience," was the Traveler's suggestion of the contrast, and continues, "it WAS MORE THAN A MOTION PICTURE—it was a story of human hearts, unfolded in a simple, soul-reaching way. A plain human STORY OF LOVE AND LIFE that will go SOUNDING DOWN THE AGES JUST BECAUSE IT IS SO HUMAN."

"Positively new upon the screen," the Transcript found it; and the writer "saw a well-known BANK PRESIDENT, several prominent merchants, city and State officials and BACK BAY SOCIAL LEADERS all 'rooting' for the heroine and her excellent hero. And men, women and children rose en masse and cheered, howled, applauded and whistled."

"Safe to say no Boston theatre ever saw a demonstration like it before—AND THINK OF IT—a Boston audience, on its feet, cheering 'Way Down East'!" said the Record.

"The treatment pictorially of the master genius of the silent drama BEGGARS DESCRIPTION," in the opinion of the Herald. "Griffith has excelled himself. Quaint New England homesteads, enchanting perspectives of roads, meadow and mountain; twilights that DELIGHT THE EYE; OLD-FASHIONED SLEIGHING PARTIES; the Virginia reel and the barn dance glorified."

And Mr. McIsaac in the American declares: "In advance of anything I have ever seen; the SCENES ARE LIKE SARGENT PAINTINGS."

For "Griffith has caught the spirit of old New England," says the Traveler; "its simple home life, its sturdy men and its loving women, and weaved it into a drama which plays upon the heartstrings to bring alternately tears and laughter."

In recalling the stage play, the Traveler points out: "Thrilling scenes have been added; EXQUISITELY BEAUTIFUL PICTURES of nature bring MURMURS OF DELIGHT; bits of COMEDY stir RIPPLES OF LAUGHTER, TENDER SCENES of pathos move the heart's deepest emotions." "The old melodrama has been transformed into a gripping and enthralling narrative" (American). "THERE IS NO RIVAL TO THIS MAN GRIFFITH IN TELLING A STORY in the film." While the Record holds "this Griffith masterpiece a tribute to New England, its scenic charms, its sacred traditions and memorable history. The whole thing is refreshing."

When the big climax came "the audience held its breath," says the Globe. When the girl went out on the ice "the audience labored and panted with her (Herald), theatregoers for years, satiated with every form of thrill and climax, HELD THEIR BREATHS and sat bolt upright" (Traveler), for it is "the most exciting thing ever done in filmdom; a climax which is absolutely HAIR-RAISING" (American). "It just grips you. It leaves you weak" (Record).

Then came "THE NOISIEST DEMONSTRATION of approval EVER HEARD IN A BOSTON THEATRE" (Herald), "a mighty spontaneous CHEER BURST FORTH" (Traveler), "indeed, the audience BURST INTO CHEERS" (American). "The OUTBURST was THUNDEROUS, a NEW WAY for a BOSTON AUDIENCE to express its appreciation; nevertheless any audience in the country would do the same" (Record). "They expressed relief in vociferous applause and some leaned back in their chairs from exhaustion, never so excited, weak with emotion" (Globe), "cheers and cheers" (Transcript).

"SOME OF THE FINEST ACTING EVER SEEN. LILLIAN GISH HAS NO EQUAL IN DEPICTING EMOTIONS" (American), and "the types were depicted truthfully and intelligently" (Record). "Miss Gish expressed the very poignancy of her part" (Transcript).

"TAKE THE WRITER'S WORD, IT'S A GREAT SHOW—DON'T MISS IT" (Record).

"Good eaters" in pocket packages

Made with the same knack George Close had

HOW the old gentleman enjoyed making his "good eaters!"

Why, he could tell in a taste what a batch of candy needed. You couldn't fool him on a "good eater," the men who worked with him say.

It's the knack in the mixing that makes "good eaters."

That's what Close has today!

For over fifty years Close has been noted for making candies that have "the best of everything" in them—pure candies—made of good things, mixed in right

Today at the factory some of the very men the Chief himself taught are, in their turn, passing on his knack to the younger men at Close's.

You get it in these new bars—top grade candy in bar form.

A handy amount for a handy price, that's their idea. Real chocolate covered candy whenever you want it—at drug stores, newsstands, fruit stores—where you're passing. Convenient to drop in your pocket, but a pocket package that's top grade candy. Close has made it possible. The George Close Company, Cambridge, Mass.

Three luscious fillings—

peppermint, nougat and cocoanut

YOU bite through the generous coating of smooth chocolate into the creamy richness of Close's! And you know you've struck it right! That luscious mouthful just hits that candy spot of yours.

Creamy peppermint—the blend that can only come with knowing how!

Rich cocoanut, inside of bitter sweet chocolate!

Or honey-mellow nougat that melts in the mouth.

It's the way they're mixed that makes "good eaters!" Close knows how.

Bite into one tonight—You'll say so!

COURTS MAY ACT FOR SOCIALISTS

No Election Certificates Issued When New York Assembly Ousted Trio

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 23.—The action of the New York State Assembly in ousting three of the five re-elected Socialists Assemblymen is being reviewed by the Attorney-General's office, it was stated here today. Complaint has been made that the ouster was illegal because no certificates of election had been issued at the time the Socialists were sworn in.

Since the Socialists were not legally members of the Assembly, if the promise holds good, they could not be thrown out. Investigation by the Attorney-General may take the matter into the courts and result in a second trial.

The three Socialists members who were ousted will make no attempt to take the matter to the courts, according to Morris Hillquit.

Socialist Assemblymen Samuel Orr and Samuel Dewitt, who dramatically "resigned," following the ouster of the three other members of their party, have decided to submit the question of the retention of their seats to their constituency. Mass meetings have been ordered for tonight in their districts in New York city at which the two Assemblymen will present their case.

When Orr and Dewitt withdrew from the Assembly Chamber Tuesday night it was believed they had tendered their resignation to the Secretary of State. This they did not do. Although refusing to sit with the body which had ousted their colleagues, if they are still legally recognized as members of the Assembly, Speaker Sweet may compel them to attend the special session of the Legislature.

WOMEN VOTERS TELL OF PLANS

Final Event in Suffrage Celebration Held at Twentieth Century Club

Over 300 enthusiastic women voters, comprising suffrage and civic leaders from all parts of the State, took part in the final event in the suffrage victory celebration which took the form of a dinner held at the Twentieth Century Club under the auspices of the Women's Industrial Civic League.

Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, one of the guests of honor, declared that there are many problems which they can solve regardless of party affiliations. Mrs. George R. Fearing, president of the League for Women Voters, urged those present to join the organization for the common good of the new voters.

At Faneuil Hall, following the parade, in which 600 women took part, speakers reviewed the history of the suffrage fight and every mention of their victory brought cheers from the large audience. Songs and "a woman's doxology" were sung as part of a well arranged and pleasing program.

The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. W. W. Dewart of the Old North Church, and was followed by a second prayer by the Rev. Ada C. Bowles of Gloucester, one of the pioneer women in the suffrage movement and one of the ablest women present.

Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, as the active head of the old State suffrage association, presided, and made the opening address of welcome.

Secretary Colby's suffrage proclamation was read by Mrs. James D. Tillinghast, who was chairman of the women's legislative committee when suffrage was ratified in Massachusetts.

A woman's doxology, the words of which were written by Mrs. Benjamin F. Pitney, was then sung.

Miss Blackwell was cheered for many minutes when introduced by Mrs. Bird, the active head of the suffrage association.

Mrs. Maud Wood Park, chairman of the National League of Women Voters, sounded the keynote of the league when she declared that it was not a new political party for women, but rather an organization which urges its members to enroll in the political party of their choice.

An impressive demonstration greeted the next speaker, Mrs. Guilford Dudley of Nashville, Tenn., who is credited with making Tennessee the thirty-sixth State to ratify the nineteenth amendment.

1,008 BOTTLES OF 'JAKEY' SEIZED IN LAWRENCE

Lawrence, Sept. 23.—The police raided a cellar at No. 10 Broomfield street and seized 1,008 bottles of "Jakey," and as a result Harry Lever, proprietor of a grocery store, paid a fine of $50 for illegal keeping. The declaration of a witness in court that he could show the police where they could buy "Jakey" were they so disposed, resulted in the unearthing of the beverage.

George Washington Has Lied at Last

New York, Sept. 23.—Because he struck Alexander Hamilton and then told a lie, George Washington was punished.

This is not a hitherto unpublished incident in the life of the "Father of His Country."

The George Washington referred to is a person of color, who unfortunately possesses none of the attributes of his illustrious namesake. Alexander Hamilton, furthermore, is ticket chopper on the Elevated on which George is employed as a guard.

George attempted to pass through the gate at the Fulton street station of the Ninth avenue "L," without paying his fare.

Denied this privilege by Alexander the guard struck the ticket chopper with his cane. He got ten days in the workhouse.

BANK ROBBERS GET $30,000

Armed Bandits Hold Up Three Employes and Depositor in Detroit

Detroit, Sept. 23.—Four armed men entered the branch of the First State Bank here, held up three employes and a depositor and in three minutes escaped with $30,000.

The quartet, all holding automatic pistols, entered and covered the officers, ordering them to back against the wall and hold up their hands.

One bandit turned toward the door to guard it and as he did so, Philbert Butter, a barber, entered. The man pushed a pistol against him and ordered him to line up with the others.

All four men were driven into the lavatory and locked in. There is a police button in the lavatory, which the imprisoned men pushed; but when the officers broke in the door, ten minutes later, the robbers were gone. They had drilled the vault and drawer, taking only currency and coin, and leaving bonds apparently untouched.

Employes of the bank were unable to get good descriptions of the robbers. No clear view was obtained of the man who guarded the door. The robbery, the police believe, was planned with the time calculated.

CURLEY DEFIES DR. MYERS

Calls Pastor "Britisher" and Challenges Him to Debate on Irish Issue

Characterizing the Rev. Cortland Myers as a "Britisher" and as a man who ought to be run out of the country, former Mayor James M. Curley challenged him to a debate on the MacSwiney case and the right of Ireland to her independence, during a "smoke talk" under the auspices of Roseneath Council, No. 1331, Knights of Columbus, in Palladio Hall, Warren and Dudley streets, Roxbury.

The hall was crowded with members and visiting brothers from neighboring councils. Speakers besides Curley were Francis J. Pieneran, president of the Democratic Club of Massachusetts, whose subject was "The Wilson League of Nations if Adopted Kills the Hopes and Aspirations of the Irish People," and Chancellor Thomas F. Phelan, who spoke on "The Advantages of Prohibition to the Young Man of the Country." Curley's topic was "Cortland Myers' Attack upon Lord Mayor MacSwiney."

At the outset I want to issue a challenge to the pastor of Tremont Temple to debate with me the MacSwiney case, and 'Why Ireland Should Have Her Independence,'" said Curley, in opening his address.

"The specials of Cortland Myers rejoicing at the death of one of the most courageous of men—Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, Ireland—makes my blood boil.

"I'd give anything to meet the Rev. Dr. Myers in any hall in the city—yes, I prefer to meet him on the platform in Tremont Temple. I'd like to take opposite sides on the issue of the League of Nations against the party I've been affiliated with during my life time."

Continuing Curley quoted statistics to show that America won the war, and pointed out how the Irish question was an American question. In view of the declaration of President Wilson that this nation entered the war to make the world safe for democracy and the right of small peoples to self-determination.

HELP TO BE GIVEN HUSBANDS AND WIVES

Letters to the editor of the Boston American suggest that there is one question that ought to be settled before we go any further.

According to the world's leading economists the high cost of living will take care of itself in due time. Prices are failing. Flivvers are coming down.

Americans will choose between Cox and Harding in a short time of six weeks, and you know how that is coming out.

If it proves to be a mild Winter, nobody will have to worry about coal. If the Winter is severe, we'll get coal somehow. HUT——

Is marriage a success?

Who can say except those who have given the institution a fair trial? We have heard from the Ayes and we have heard from the Noes. They all write interesting letters. Husbands and wives, and those who hope to be husbands or wives will get a lot of help from the discussion which begins tomorrow in the Boston American. It will continue for several days. BROOKLYN SLIGHTLY STRONGER IN REGARD TO FIRST BASEMEN

SCHMANDT HAS PROVED HIS VALUE AS SUBSTITUTE

	Offensive.	Defensive.	Total.
Brooklyn	917	429	1346
Yankees	904	433	1337
Cleveland	922	417	1339
Chicago	883	426	1309

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Regardless of which of the contending American League teams they must face in the World's Series, Brooklyn holds its own well in the first clash of the dope—the figure study of the first baseman.

Further than that Brooklyn may show a gain in offensive strength in that position for the reason that in this doping I am compelled to study the National League winner against the pitching staffs of the three teams. I find that if the Yankees win in the American League, Brooklyn will have a slight gain in the offensive figures. If Cleveland wins a slight loss and, if the White Sox should come through they will show a decided gain. To reach the approximate comparative figures on position strengths of the teams at this stage of the game I am compelled to figure Brooklyn's average strength against the three clubs.

In other words, it would be tackier for the Dodgers, so far as first base is concerned, to have Chicago win.

The strength of the Dodgers at first base has been one of the disputed points of the season. Some figure that Konetchy's disablement would crimp the chances of Brooklyn terribly, whereas, Schmandt, one of the best and most inspired utility men in the country, proved his ability to handle the base well, and in that position to hit furiously. So that Brooklyn is doubly safeguarded.

The great difficulty of studying dope in such close races is to make the comparison between one team and three. When I commenced the labor of compiling the figures and striving to dope out which team should win the World's championship it was necessary to figure three teams in each league. The Dodgers kindly obliged by plunging out ahead, easing the laborer and as soon as one of the American League teams slips back we can drop their figures.

FIGURES NOT COMPARISONS.

The figures, understood plainly, are NOT comparisons of men. They are comparisons of the team strength in a certain position. For instance, if Schmandt and Konetchy both should play in a series the figures would not indicate either, but a composite of the two—an average strength.

The big Brooklynite, no matter how figured, is the class of the first basemen who are liable to get into the contest. They are not up to World's Series standards of former years, taken as a whole. In fact there are lists a famine in capable first basemen, and McInnis is more physical than mental. Konetchy is a man whose work seldom has been credited with being as good as it is.

True he flivved twice when he threatened to be one of the great stars, but those were in the days of his youth. He has grown older, steadier and a better team player. Schmandt is the highly nervous type, a bunch of nerve and muscle, and one of the most dangerous men in baseball in a tight situation and one who rises to greater heights in the most pressing situations.

Cleveland has the greatest hitting power—and the most value of offense among the three American League contenders but Pipp is all round a better man although neither so powerful nor so dangerous against the sort of pitching Brooklyn will have in the series. It will be a lucky thing for the Dodger pitchers if Pipp instead of Johnston, bats against Pfeffer, Marquard or Cadore—and Grimes ought to stop both almost to a whisper with his style of pitching. While we must consider the White Sox a dark team until they are counted out of their own race it is hardly necessary to consider Ted Jourdain seriously among first basemen.

He is a fair man—that is all, and would be lucky to hit within fifty points of his American League average against Brooklyn pitching—and his average is low.

FIRST BASE IMPORTANT.

The dope indicates that in the attacking scheme the first basemen of Brooklyn and the Yanks are liable to be extremely important figures, especially with the Dodgers and the Yanks in the contest, and not less so with Dodgers and Cleveland battling for the big coin.

You fellows who were going to help me dope this out will have to do some tall arithmetic to keep up with the situation. You understand, of course, that the player's figure value in the regular season of his own league. In his own circuit, playing 154 games and hitting against perhaps seventy different pitchers, he may be a wonder, whereas if he is in a series when he has to hit against Carl Mays, Eddie Cicotte and Covaleskie he would not amount to much in attack.

That is the thing we must study. It is impossible at this stage of the dope to figure exactly. But as soon as the races are settled and we know which two clubs will meet, we will have to amend the figures so as to give the value of each man against the kind of pitching he will encounter.

Another thing I want to warn you assistant dopesters against—and that is against figuring the Speaker-Sisler exhibition games between Dodgers and Yanks. You may consider it only so far as it may affect the confidence of players. Brooklyn players believe they can hit Yank pitching, and Brooklyn pitchers think they can stop Yank batting because they did it last Spring. This confidence will help them, but on real dope there is little to it beyond the fact that Brooklyn's pitchers were further advanced in condition at that time and Huggins had a disorganized ball club—which is not now disorganized.

I'll amend my figures as rapidly as possible. Keep yours and make the changes as the teams drop out—and root hard for some of the American League teams to drop suddenly. It is a terrible strain on the arithmetic to have to figure so many clubs and the air is full of fours and nine spots even now.

Tomorrow we will study the second basemen of the contending teams. I have an idea that the figures will show a greater disparity than exists between the first basemen.

KLOBY SOON TO MEET SIEGAL

Faneuil A. C. Angling for Bout on Local Ball Park Columbus Day

By JACK CONWAY.

Young Kloby and Nate Siegal will probably meet in a ten-round bout under the direction of the Faneuil A. C. at one of the local ball parks, on the afternoon of Columbus Day. This match has been hanging fire for more than a month. Several clubs have made attractive bids for this pugilistic plum, but it appears as though the Faneuil Club will land the affair.

Persons close to Kloby in Lawrence declare that the Y. D. champion is eager to meet Siegel in Boston. The Revere welterweight has already signed articles of agreement for a Kloby bout with John F. Mahony, general manager of the Faneuil A. C.

Brockton Rivals to Box at Quincy

Quincy will be back on the boxing map a week from tonight when the Quincy Boxing Club will stage its first show under the new law. Matchmaker Tom Goodwin has secured Harry Carlson and Jimmy Frusetti, Brockton rivals, to meet in the feature bout of ten rounds.

It will be the second meeting between these two men. When they clashed at Brockton recently, Carlson was awarded the decision after a torrid mixup. It was Fruzetti's first setback after piling up his record of twenty-three consecutive victories. Naturally the result didn't please him in the least and he is now out to even up the score.

The quarters of the Quincy Club in the Coliseum building are being remodelled so that it will be possible to care for a larger number of fans.

McKirdy Starts in New Quarters Next Week

Bob McKirdy will put on the lid at the Commercial A. C.'s new quarters at the Grand Opera House next Wednesday night. He has signed Tommy McFarland of the North End and Mickey Donovan of Brockton for the final tussle of ten rounds. Both of these boys are rugged millers and may be relied upon to furnish the fans with plenty of action. McKirdy expects to be able to announce the remainder of his program within a few days.

Judging of Bouts Good to Date

The judging of the bouts at local clubs has been remarkably good. The men selected to officiate in most cases have had plenty of experience and have performed their tasks well. It has been a joy to a lot of oldtimers to see men like Lewis Sullivan, a member of the Governor's Council; Peter Kelley, Jimmy Walsh, George Freeman and several others lending their assistance to putting the ring game on a firm basis in Massachusetts.

Jerry Moore, Maffil Flaherty, Jack Sheehan and Will Power, who have refereed most of the big bouts in this part of the country during the past few years, will probably be seen in the ring soon. These men are sure to receive the consideration from the Boxing Commission that their long records entitle them to.

WILSON IS EAGER TO BATTLE CARPENTIER

Johnny Wilson, world's middleweight champion, is eager to battle Georges Carpentier, according to a statement made today by Marty Killilea, manager of the Charlestown warrior.

Carpentier has signed to box Battling Levinsky in New York, but the contest has been postponed.

Matchmaker Roy Green of the Fenway A. A. is eager to stage a Carpentier-Wilson bout.

Boxing Commission Holds Up 2 Licenses

The State Boxing Commission has suspended licenses of two boxers. The license of Jessie Sousa, who boxed under the name of Young McFarland, was indefinitely suspended, according to Commissioner Eugene Buckley, because he "displayed bad faith" and used insulting language to a referee at the bouts at the Arena A. C. in New Bedford last Monday night. The show was attended by Commissioner Barrett.

The license of an out-of-State boxer who appeared at a show in Lynn in poor physical condition has been suspended by the commission.

BENEFIT BALL GAME FOR K. OF C. PLAYER

Next Saturday when Boston Council, K. of C., and the Andrew A. A. of South Boston meet at the Strandway the followers of the teams will have a chance to show their appreciation for the work of Tom Gorman, who played for both teams during the season until he was unfortunate enough to break his leg playing ball about a month ago.

Both teams have played high-class baseball all season and on merit alone the game should draw one of the largest crowds that has been a game at the Strandway this year.

Cavanaugh and Englehorn Are Busy Getting Maroon and Gold Ready for Yale

The Boston College football squad is showing more power each day in the workouts at Alumni Field. Coach Cavanaugh and Engelhorn are driving the men, as their first objective during the game with Yale, and the Maroon and Gold must be primed for this fray.

Team "A" eleven shows great power both offensively and defensively, and while the seconds do not appear as strong on the offense, they play a whale of a game when the first team has the ball. The first string line shows up to great advantage, and apparently is impregnable to the seconds.

The overhead game will play an important part in Boston's attack this season. Cavanaugh is carefully drilling the backs and ends in this department, and Fitz is shooting them out with amazing accuracy.

A Little Tip to Dempsey

Poor old Jack Dempsey.

Here is a champion and no place to fight.

All the champ's managers and all the champ's men cannot get Jack in the ring again.

It's kind of tough on the great battler, but he can only blame his handlers. They have gregdily grabbed up every old offer that seemed to promise a goodly return, regardless of the calibre of the opponent named.

The result has been that three different bouts, all but framed for the champion, in this section have been scratched, while New York has likewise barred the title holder from gathering in a few easy dollars with Bill Brennan.

Carpentier got away with a few ring skits, but the boys are not going to get stung again—not twice in the same place.

Dempsey is a popular champion. He is a fighter, and it is up to him to advise his great gallery of managers to cut out the kidding and get down to cases with at least one real live match.

The fans will pay the freight.

BIG FIELD OUT AT WOODLAND

Club's Fall Open Tournament Starts Today; Match Play Tomorrow

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

A large field started play today in the fall open tournament at the Woodland Golf Club. The players qualified in sixteens for match play, which will start tomorrow.

Jesse Guilford and Fred Wright were expected to make it interesting for the golfers who qualified in the first sixteen. It was thought that nothing worse than eighty-five would get into the first flight, and that it would take a ninety-one or ninety-two to make the second division.

The Woodland course is in good condition. The back tees were used, making the course considerably longer than usual. The par is thirty-eight out and thirty-eight in, and is not as difficult as on many Massachusetts links.

It was erroneously stated that the next golf tournament of the Bay State Automobile Association would take place at Woodland next Monday. Jerry Travers, chairman of this golf committee of the Bay State Club announces that the tournament will be held at the Commonwealth Country Club, Chestnut Hill, on Wednesday, September 29, and it will be an all-day affair. Handsome trophies and valuable prizes will be awarded to members and their guests for best net and best gross scores.

CALL PLAYERS IN WORLD'S SERIES SCANDAL

PROBE INTO BIG GAMES GOES ON

Cincinnati and White Sox Members Called Before the Grand Jury

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, was the first witness to go before the Cook County Grand Jury investigating the charges that professional gamblers on baseball have led players to throw games.

Just what Comiskey testified could not be learned. He was before the jury for thirty minutes. When he emerged he was asked what he had told the jury. He smiled, and said that he was instructed not to talk.

Despite of the order of Chief Justice McDonald of the Criminal Court, that the investigation be made open and public the jurors are excluding all but witnesses from the proceedings and asking them not to divulge what they testified.

Hints Series Players Will Be Called

Assistant States Attorney Replogle, who conducted the examination of witnesses before the Grand Jury, said:

"Ban Johnson, president of the American League, and Charles Comiskey testified and gave some very important leads concerning the reported 'fixing' of the world's series last Fall.

"I am not at liberty to say just what the leads are, but I will make this statement: that several prominent players of both the White Sox and the Cincinnati teams will be called before the Grand Jury before adjournment."

President Johnson, it is said, told the investigating body about reports in general that he has heard. He named a coterie of gamblers which might be at the bottom of the corruption.

Veeck Tells of Changing Lineup

The witness spoke on this matter to newspaper reporters before he was called into the grand jury room, but declined to make public the names of the gamblers, or where they operated. It was "sure thing" bets with them he said. He did not finish testifying and was asked to return.

William L. Veeck, president of the Cubs, was questioned about the Cubs-Philadelphia games. He stated that telegrams from fans and other reports prompted him and Manager Mitchell to change the lineup, Alexander going to the mound in place of Hendrix and Barber playing Merkle's position at first base.

Only Could Collect Hearsay Evidence

He submitted to the jurors voluminous reports from the Burns Detective Agency, which was engaged to run down these rumors. Merely hearsay evidence is said to have been all the agency was able to gather. It laid the foundation, however, to the calling of other witnesses, who, if willing, can give direct testimony. Veeck was also asked to return.

"I want to get at the bottom of this thing," he said on leaving the jury room. "If there is anything rotten in my club I want to know it. If not, I want to know it. I feel at this time, however, that I cannot discuss what I said before the grand jury."

MR. SIMON expressed his pleasure and asked Joe to call again. It was reassuring to him to see her once in a while now that she was living on the proceeds of his check.

Mrs. Hasdock left the pawnshop a trifle more collected. It was a comfort to talk to someone, even if that someone was Moe Simon. She returned to the hotel fearing that Harry had discovered her, but her room seemed to be in order and she breathed again.

The one means she might have taken to free herself of the burden of fear that was driving her from place to place and filling her days and nights with terror never occurred to her. If she had gone to Heliotrope Harry and convinced him that she had the good of Annie their daughter at heart, if she had promised never to tell the Andrews family her relationship, peace might have been hers. But she never gave such an idea the compliment of a passing thought. It was risk all to gain all. She would play her game to the end and stake everything, her daughter's happiness included, on the information she hoped to sell to the millionaire lumberman.

Kept It to Himself

She reckoned without Harry; whatever his purpose was he kept it to himself; to Spike Foley he confided that his word to the Governor was a sacred thing. Spike was enjoying a good position with an employer who knew his story; Spike had no fear of the police now, but he knew he must go straight. He told Harry as much, the latter patted his shoulder affectionately.

"Sure you want to go straight, and sure I want you to."

"You're not going to break the law, Harry?"

"Never again, trust me, Spike; you go along with a free conscience for you'll never get into a shabby deal through me. I've had my lesson and I value this good free air too much."

Spike felt relief. "Of course," he said gratefully, "you know there's nothing I wouldn't do for you, Harry—you did enough for me, but unless I had to I'd hate to go wrong."

The vision of Alice was still before the father's eyes, and Spike waited for the ex-convict to break the silence.

"I saw her this afternoon, Spike—saw her and spoke to her in the park."

"You did, Harry, alone?"

"Alone and, Spike, it was the happiest and the saddest for me."

"She didn't suspect—she didn't have a glimmer?"

Shook His Head

"No, I was just a passing stranger, that's all, that got a chance to say a few words by accident—she's got the sweetest voice, Spike." His own voice trailed off and he dabbed at his eyes. Spike was uncomfortable. To see Heliotrope Harry carried away by emotion was a novel sensation. He tried to cheer him.

"And you didn't tell her—now I suppose you might have done that and made her keep the secret—you might have done that, Harry."

The other shook his head. "No, Spike, I wanted to—the Lord knows there was something pulling at my heart that made me almost tell her, but it wouldn't have done—she wouldn't understand—no, it was better to keep quiet, Spike—I've been through with it and I'll never tell her now—I know that, Spike."

His friend had no answer. The intricacies of feeling which seemed to have assailed the one-time free pal of his former days were like so many enigmas to Spike.

"It wouldn't do any good," he said at last. "You're right, Harry, you and me, we're not her kind. Yes, Harry, you're right."

"I chased Joe away from her," Harry went on recounting the encounter with Mrs. Hasdock. Spike's eyes sparkled. "That's the boy," he cried, "and I found out something for you—she's moved—she's gone to the Ellerton, a little second-hand place further west; I guess you did that, Harry."

A faint smile appeared on the other man's features. "I slipped an atomizer in my pocket and sprayed a little from behind a bush. She got it all right. You ought to have seen her beat it away."

"She was scared all right. She had all her trunks checked twice. You got her number, Harry. But how are you going to head her off?"

Heliotrope Harry regarded him curiously. "You leave that to me, Spike, but she'll never tell."

Spike relaxed. The main point was settled. There was to be no violence. He trusted to Harry's ingenuity to bring about the result he was looking for. His devotion was dumb, unreasoning, but efficient all the same.

After a while he asked curiously: "You seen the young fellow too?"

Harry nodded. "Yes, he was there too. Nice chap, clean cut and in love with her all right. I saw that it's a love match—Spike, my daughter'd never marry a man for money——"

"Sure, she wouldn't," said Spike gallantly.

"It was all an accident like you wrote, Spike—this chap's sister and my girl was friends—that's how they met."

"I got a glimpse of the whole family in the hotel," Harry went on shifting the scene, "through the open door, all grouped round admiring wedding ring; the marriage is going to be soon, I guess."

Birth Certificate

"We got to get hold of the birth certificate," suggested Spike. Harry nodded. "Yes, I'm after that now; she's got it in her room and I'm afraid she'll hide it somewhere——"

But Harry did not tell just how he proposed to secure possession of the valuable document. Without it, Joe's case would be futile. She knew its value, but, with the proverbial carelessness of women of her kind, she imagined that by tucking it in the folds of a piece of newspaper she would effectually conceal it.

The Hotel Ellerton offered no immediate chance to watchful Harry. When he did manage to secure a room there Mrs. Hasdock had already been there a week. She was beginning to feel more free; but her fancied escape proved only fancy. The day after Harry's arrival, he watched her go out. The chambermaid came along the corridor. He advanced with a small bundle.

"I wonder," he asked, "if you'd put this little offering on the table in Room 46?"

The girl accepted a quarter with the errand. When Mrs. Hasdock returned a small plant of heliotrope stood in the middle of her table; its perfume assailing her nostrils the moment she entered the room. She telephoned to the desk. The clerk knew nothing. For the second time Mrs. Hasdock was driven out of her hotel. She departed this time also at night, haunted by a fear she could not laugh off.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

Risky at Both Ends

"What on earth are ye doin' now?" inquired the sergeant in pained tones of a recruit who was doing funny things on—and off—a horse. "E—'e'll hurt me!" wailed the recruit. Adventures of Ann

By Hal Coffman

CHAPTER XX.

HARWOOD found Ann's father a better job than he formerly had, and he was now happily at work in one of Harwood's companies. "It's no trouble to me and will make me solid with the old boy in the future," Harwood chuckled.

He phoned the mysterious woman in Ann's house that he was giving a party that night at his home and she was to come and bring Ann. When Betty heard of it she did not wish Ann to go, but her father overruled her scruples, saying: "Sure she can go. Harwood is a nice fellow and it will give Ann an opportunity of seeing some real class." Any one with money was Ann's father's idea of class—unfortunately.

At Harwood's that evening Ann had never seen so many pretty gowns in all her life. However, her own simple little frock and her fresh, natural complexion made her shine. The women gathered around her during the evening, some honestly envious of her youth and good looks, while others made fun of her in their own way with jokes that went entirely over that innocent young head.

One tired, dissipated young man drawled to Harwood as he stood looking at Ann for the first time: "I say, Harwood, who is the little beauty; something new? By Jove, you are a good picker." Just then the mysterious woman friend of Ann's took him by the arm, saying, "Come along, Freddie; won't you get me another glass of punch?"

To Ann it was all lovely, the beautiful dresses, the georgeous surroundings and the gay banter of the crowd. She did not see the troubled hearts, the shallow lives that most of them led—and were heartily sick of. For Ann was young, with the eyes of youth, and unused to the ways of the world.

When a Girl Marries

By Ann Lisle

ALL of this might have faded into the background and blended into the general memory of a pleasant though unusual evening if it hadn't been for the fact that Phoebe telephoned me next morning to suggest that she and Neal would like me to chaperon them for a week-end at a nearby lake. To refuse them would be cruel. Yet in a way it had been cruel to deprive Irma Warren of a good time. And to accept this second invitation after refusing the first, were rude. So I told Phoebe a little about the situation.

"That's all right!" she cried. "Don't you see, they'll think you had to refuse because of a previous invitation—that is, if they ever find out."

"Why, Phoebe Harrison, you unscrupulous little thing!" I replied.

"Course I am," returned Phoebe unexpectedly. "All women are where their love is concerned. You can't go back on us, Anne. You've got to stand by us and get us the little there's possible for us. Virginia's stealing our big happiness. And because Neal feels your prejudice against an elopement, I can't do a thing but sit and wait. Now, I want my holiday—and you're going to give it to me."

"Jim might get back," I objected feebly.

"Virginia's going off somewhere. I—I've got to get away."

"You could come here, Phoebe."

Want a Holiday

"Oh, Anne—please! I want a holiday," said Phoebe in a tremulous voice. "I want to get away—with Neal. Won't you? Won't you, please, let me have this little bit of happiness? I'll choke if I don't get out of town! Won't you make it possible for me to have this little bit of happiness—this little bit?"

"All right," I replied uneasily. "I'll go."

For our week-end jaunt, Neal selected a pretty little lake resort about sixty miles from the city. By now my ankle was in good condition, so I insisted on running up in my car—packing him and Phoebe in the rumble seat, while the baggage was distributed between the running-board and the place next to me.

Driving up the steady grade that leads into the hills and to the lake of our destination occupied me pretty much. But it didn't keep me from worrying because the morning hadn't brought the expected letter from Jim. Nor, on the other hand, did it keep me from realizing that I'd have been a prig to insist on stopping at home to watch each delivery, with the longed-for letter in view.

Phoebe's happy voice floated to me from the rear. It was full of laughs and ripples and trills—the bird-like happiness of youth was in it now, instead of the tense and terrifying woman's eagerness in which she berated the fate and the family that denied her Neal.

All through the happy day I rejoiced that I'd come with the children.

In the afternoon I called up my apartment to see if there was any mail. But the operator reported that no one answered, which might be put down to poor service, and might mean that Hedwig and Angy had taken advantage of my absence to take an afternoon off.

After a dip in the lake, Phoebe and Neal had got back into walking togs and gone for a stroll through the pine woods. When they hadn't returned at seven, I added my uneasiness over this to the fact that another trial over the toll wire didn't give my apartment, and, tacking this to my general disquiet—the "hunch" I'd felt about coming—I worked myself into a frightful state of nerves.

A Big Surprise

Seven-fifteen, and still Phoebe's room was empty. So, flinging a cape about my evening finery, I went down to the veranda to while away the tantalising hours of waiting where there would be coming and going to distract my mind a bit.

Hardly had I settled myself in a big wicker chair when up to the porte cochere drove a car, and out stepped Daisy Condon. The car itself, evidently driven by its only other occupant and not piloted by a chauffeur, then went over to the parking place. Daisy teetered about on the steps a minute before she vanished into the inn.

I sat still, making no move. It seemed that she must have seen me and preferred to pretend she hadn't. Perhaps she still wanted to avoid me because of that ugly situation between us, namely, the theft of my ring. Perhaps this evening in particular Daisy wanted to avoid me.

Without waiting for the other occupant of the car which had brought Daisy to the lake, I got up and drifted around to the side door of the inn. The clock in the quaint little living-room registered seven-thirty. Dusk had given way to darkness, and my uneasiness over Phoebe and Neal had given way to actual worry.

I made a trip up to my room, but still Phoebe's—which opened into it—was empty. And Neal's—down the hall and around the corner—still failed to respond to knocking.

The Restless Sex

By Robert W. Chambers

CHAPTER XXXII—Continued

STEPHANIE, frightfully pale, came to her door. Her hair was dressed and she was gowned for the afternoon. She tried to speak, but no sound came from her colorless lips and she laid her hands on his shoulder in silence. Their lips scarcely touched before they parted; but their eyes clung desperately.

"Good-bye, dear."

"Good-bye," she whispered.

"You know I love you. You know I shall never love another woman?"

"Try to—forget me, Jim."

"I can't."

"I can't forget you, either, but I'm sorry, dear. I wish you had me. . . . I'd give you anything, Jim—anything. Don't you know it?"

"Yes."

She laid her head on his breast, rested a moment, then lifted it, not looking at him, and turned slowly back into her room.

It was dark when he arrived in New York. The flaring streets of the city seemed horrible to him.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

WASHINGTON SQUARE seemed a little cooler than the streets to the northward, the white arch, the trees, the splash of water made a difference. But beyond, southward, narrow streets and lanes were heavy with the close, hot odors of the slums—a sickening smell of over-ripe fruit piled on push-carts, the reek of raw fish, of sour malt from saloons—a subtler taint of opium from blind alleys where Chinese signs hung from rusting iron balconies.

Through cracks between drawn curtains behind the windows of Grismer's basement studio, light glimmered, and when Cleland pulled the bell wire in the area he could hear the crazy, cracked bell jangling inside.

Grismer came.

For a second he hesitated behind the iron area gate, then recognising his visitor opened for him.

They shook hands with a pleasant commonplace word or two of civility, and walked together through the dark, hot passageway into the lighted basement.

"It's devilish hot," said Grismer. "There's probably a storm brewing over Staten Island."

He looked colorless and worn. There was a dew of prespiration on his forehead, which dampened the thick amber-gold hair. He wore only a gauze undershirt, trousers and slippers, under which his supple, graceful figure was apparent.

An Invitation.

"Grismer," said Cleland uneasily, "this cellar is hell in July. Why don't you come up to Runner's Rest for the hot period? You can't do anything here. You can't stand it."

Grismer fished a siphon out of his icebox and looked around with a questioning smile. "I've some orange juice. Would you like some?"

Cleland nodded and walked over to a revolving table on which the wax model of his fountain stood. Grismer presently came up beside him with both glasses, and he took his with an absent nod, but continued to examine the model in silence.

"Probably you don't care for it," suggested Grismer.

Cleland said slowly:

"You gave me a different idea. I didn't know you were going to do anything like this."

"I'm afraid you are disappointed."

"No. It's beautiful, Grismer. I hadn't thought that a figure would be possible, considering the character of the place and the very simple and primitive surroundings. But this is in perfect taste and amazingly in accord with everything."

ABOUT OUR GOOD FRIEND Griffith

Copyright, 1920, by The Ledger Syndicate

GRIFFITH

VARIATION—Griffiths.
RACIAL ORIGIN—Welsh.
SOURCE—A given name.

THE family name of Griffith, or Griffiths, like that of Bethel, is one which is derived from a given name now seldom found, though why it should have fallen into disuse is one of those mysteries about which one can only conjecture, for it is a name of the same type as John, which, in its various forms, is one of the most popular of given names in a dozen or more different tongues, and always has been since the beginning of the Christian era in each land.

While the name of John is from the Hebrew, meaning "God's grace," the name of Griffith or "Griffudh" to use a spelling more significant of that in the Welsh language, is derived from two Welsh words meaning "great faith."

It is only in comparatively modern times that Welsh family names really have been stabilized. They developed in much the same fashion as the English names which denote parentage, but the duration of one of the stages through which such names develop was much prolonged among the Welsh. As "John Richardson" in English meant "John, the son of Richard," so "Evan ap Griffudh" in Welsh meant "Evan (or John), the son of Griffith." But whereas among the English such a name came to be given not only to a man's sons, but also to his grandsons and great-grandsons, thus losing its purely descriptive character and becoming a family name, the initial stage of the family name was greatly prolonged among the Welsh. Thus the son of "Evan ap Griffudh" would be known as "Owen ap Evan," and his son in turn as "Griffudh ap Owen," and so on for several centuries instead of a few generations.

The name Griffith, so the authorities state, comes from an old Welsh word meaning "great faith." So, the historian of the Griffith family continues, it would seem to be, considering the long preambles on the future state inevitably inserted at the head of every Griffith will which has come down to us.

The first Griffiths in America were Maryland planters, "not figuring largely in the public life of their community," according to their historian, "but adorners of the old fashioned name of gentleman." Montgomery County, was the place where the family seat was situated. Major Samuel Griffith took a large part in the Revolution, serving under General Lafayette. He was wounded either at Germantown or Brandywine, and, on one occasion, his company of 90 men was reduced to 16, so hard did they fight. When Lafayette returned to America for his historic visit, so the bystanders relate, Major Samuel Griffith and he fell into each other's arms, weeping.

Tomorrow—Lee.

To "Youth-ify" Gray Streaked Hair

Ask anybody to guess how old you are, and notice how their first appraising glance is directed at your hair.

To be answered "You can't be more than thirty; I can tell by your hair," must give to any woman who is really forty or more a sense of pride and satisfaction.

But to become prematurely gray at 30 or 40, to look ten years older than you actually are—that is indeed a bitter experience. However, any woman can, with a bottle of Brownatone, restore to gray, faded and streaked hair all its maiden beauty and the identical color it had in girlhood, whether light golden, medium, dark brown or black. Brownatone is instant in results and absolutely harmless.

At all druggists: 60c and $1.50; two colors: "Light to Medium Brown" and "Dark Brown to Black."

Special Free Trial Offer

For a free trial package of Brownatone, send to The Kenton Pharmacal Co., 587 Coppin Bldg., Covington, Ky., enclosing 11 cents to pay postage, packing and war tax. Tear this out.

La-may Face Powder is Guaranteed Pure and Harmless.

Pure face powder cannot injure the most delicate baby skin. The trouble is, too many powders are made in the old-fashioned way, with rice powder. Rice powder is starchy, and, like bread flour, it is quickly turned into a gluey paste by the moisture of the skin. This paste clogs the cuticle, swells in the pores, causing enlarged pores, blackheads and pimples. A specialist makes a harmless powder by using an ingredient doctors prescribe to heal the skin. Every time you apply this improved powder you give your complexion a real beauty treatment. There is a thousand dollar guarantee of purity printed on the box, certifying it does not contain white lead, rice powder or any harmful substance. This guaranteed pure powder is called La-may (French, Poudre L'Ame). Because it is pure and harmless La-may is now used by over a million American women; it is now the most popular complexion powder sold in New York. Women who have used even the most expensive face powders say La-may stays on better than any other; they say they can not buy a better powder anywhere at any price. There is also a La-may Talcum that prevents the souring of perspiration.

False Claims.

WE hope there is no Mother who thinks she can treat her sick baby without calling in a Physician, or with remedies that she uses for herself.

Most Mothers know that Baby requires remedies especially prepared for babies, yet there are some who think that what is good enough for them is good enough for Baby, and it is to these Mothers we appeal to give nothing to their babies that is not specially prepared for babies or recommended by their Physician.

False claims may kill, but false claims can never restore your child.

For over thirty years Fletcher's Castoria has been aiding in the reduction of the deaths among infants as Mothers have become more and more acquainted with it. Always keep it in the house.

Children Cry For Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Mothers Must Use Care.

Why do we so often call your attention to imitations of Fletcher's Castoria? Because it is a baby's medicine and imitations are always dangerous, particularly imitations of a remedy for infants.

Your druggist may not keep an imitation but they are to be found on drug-store shelves. Reliable druggists think only of the welfare of their customers. The other kind only of the greater profit to be made on imitations.

Your own judgment tells you that Fletcher's Castoria having for over thirty years at great expense held up its reputation, must jealously guard it. Then, it follows that this company must use the very best of material. Must employ experts in the selection of the herbs. Must retain skilled chemists in its manufacture.

Your same good judgment must tell you that these irresponsible imitators are trading on your credulity and the reputation built up by Mr. Fletcher, during all these years, for his Castoria.

MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA.

Samoa Probe Ordered

Washington, Sept. 23.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today ordered a complete investigation of conditions in Samoa and of the naval administration of the island.

DON'T LET THAT COLD GET THE BETTER OF YOU

If that persistent cough or cold is fastened on you at this season of the year it may lead to serious results. Your doctor would tell you that the soothing, healing elements in Father John's Medicine are exactly what he would prescribe for such a condition.

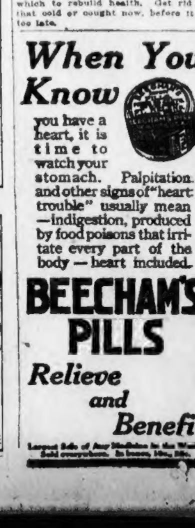
The value of Father John's Medicine has been proven by more than sixty years of success. It soothes and heals the breathing passages and, because of the nourishing food elements it contains, helps to rebuild wasted tissue and gives new strength with which to rebuild health. Get rid of that cold or cought now, before it is too late.



LAWRENCE TAX RATE TO BE FIXED AT $31.20

Lawrence, Sept. 23.—The tax rate in Lawrence will be $31.20 per thousand, and would reach $40 per thousand were it not for a tremendous boost in valuations which will in turn mean big rents, according to prominent real estate men. The rate became a practical certainty when the Aldermen passed the 1920 budget over the veto of Mayor William P. White.

How to Have Pretty Natural Looking Curls

Straight, lank hair is becoming to but few women and there's no excuse now for anyone looking homely and unkempt on that account. Those who have forsworn the curling iron because of the damage it does by drying and breaking the hair, will be glad to hear that the simple silmerine method will produce a far better and prettier effect, without any injurious result whatever. If just a small quantity be applied with a clean tooth brush before doing up the hair, the loveliest natural looking curls and waves will be in evidence in three hours, and there will be nothing streaky, sticky or greasy about it.

A few ounces of liquid silmerine, obtainable at any drug store, will prove a welcome addition to many a dressing table. It is best applied by dividing the hair into strands and moistening each of them separately from root to tip. The beautiful wavy effect will last for a considerable time.—Advertisement.

Stocks Heavy in New York; Money 7%; Exchange Rates Up

RAIL SSTRONG AND ACTIVE

Republic Motor Is an Early Feature; Oils React, and Steel Issues Decline

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were heavy in New York at noon, the market having had a heavy tone all the morning. Rails continued to hold gains in most instances, but oils failed to recover from a reaction, while motors, steels and equipments were weak. Coal stocks showed strength, tobaccos were quiet and irregular and sugars were off as class. The market was very active, first hour transactions approximating 320,000 shares. Money opened at 7 per cent. Foreign exchange rates were firm, opening quotations being demand sterling $3.49⅝, up 1 cent; francs demand $.0680, up $.0002; lire $.0432, up $.0001; marks $.0164, unchanged.

HAD IRREGULAR START.

The market began with the price movement irregular. Low priced rails continued strong, but there was an indefinite trend for the list at large. Early fluctuations were fractional as a rule. Republic Motor was a first-hour feature. It opened a shade higher and then advanced more than seven points, and all within thirty minutes. It was active. Highs for the year were made by Wabash preferred, New York, Ontario & Western common, St. Louis & San Francisco, Southern Railway, Kansas City Southern, Wheeling & Lake Erie and Pittsburgh & West Virginia. Aside from rails, an issue to attain a 1920 high in the first hour was Pittsburgh Coal.

MORE SELLING PRESSURE.

At the end of half an hour selling pressure increased and Mexican Petroleum, which began strong, was four points below its earlier highest. Pan-American, Baldwin and Republic Steel were among issues to recede the most in this reaction. Studebaker and Chandler sold below yesterday's lows. Motors were off as a class. Willys Overland and Kelly Springfield sold at record lows before mid-morning. The advance of Republic Motors followed the circulation of a statement that commission houses generally refused to make sales of the stock yesterday for short account.

The Republic Motor Truck Company has just declared a regular quarterly $1.75 preferred dividend, payable October 1 to stock of record September 24.

SENTIMENT DIVIDED.

There is a greater diversity of opinion among traders this week than for some time, but most of the speculators are maintaining a bearish attitude. Commodity price cutting in general and the reduction of the price of Ford cars is advanced by them as proof that business is contracting all over the country. It is said, however, that the short interest, although large before, has been greatly extended within a week and that the market should make a quick response to anything bullish.

STOCKS REFLECTED COMING PRICE CUTTING

By BROADAN WALL.
Registered U. S. Patent Office.

New York, Sept. 23. — Henry Ford frightened the stock market to lower levels again yesterday, because the whole industrial world realizes that what he did must be done by all industries. The U. S. Steel Corporation is selling its output from fifteen to twenty dollars lower than the leading independents. Steel prices must be cut sharply.

The copper producers have finally decided that they will have to cut the price of copper two cents a pound at least to encourage buying. Tobacco from the fields is selling at half what it was a year ago. Cotton is 40 per cent lower. Leather has returned to the pre-war level. Corn is under a dollar bushel.

Farmers that haul their wheat to the mill are getting $2.30 a bushel in the Middle West. The retailers are the only profiteers not awake to the new situation and in spots they are beginning to realize that the day of highway robbery prices are ended.

That is why the market acted yesterday as it did. It opened heavy, turned strong and finally weak and closed heavy and net lower. The only stocks that held their advances had very good reasons for doing so.

Bethlehem Steel is really to issue the $20,000,000 of new financing that was officially denied a short time ago. The fact that the corporation thus suddenly finds itself in the need of money shows how rapidly the steel business is changing for the worse.

With American Tobacco A and B stocks at new high records and with Reynolds at a high record, Wall Street was much interested in the reports from the farming regions that tobacco prices were only about a half of what they were a year ago.

There is high authority for saying that the plan for organizing a new group of motor companies promises to be successful.

Quiet Copper Market

The copper market remains quiet with leading selling agents quoting 19 cents for September and October deliveries but, it is believed, the bulk of the business being handled by smaller dealers who are quoting 18¾ to 18½ cents. Inquiries for red metal are few. Foreign competition is affecting spelter. Lead consumers are buying only for immediate needs.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, Sept. 23.—The cotton market opened easy and generally 10 to 24 points lower, despite unexpected strong Liverpool cables. The selling was mostly Southern and was based on reports that there had been less damage from the Gulf storm than had been expected. Local pressure was also active. Later the market turned heavy in the face of trade buying and at the end of fifteen minutes was about 40 points net lower. Opening prices were: Oct., 27.90; Dec., 25.20; Jan., 24.05; March, 23.45; May, 22.70; July, 21.90.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Wheat started unchanged to ½c lower. Corn was ½c to 2½c lower and oats ½c to ¾c higher. Opening prices were: Wheat—December, 2.35 to 2.35½; March, 2.28 to 2.30. Corn—September, 1.32 to 1.33; December, 1.04 to 1.04⅛; May, 1.05 to 1.05¼. Oats—September, 56½ to 57; December, 60 to 60¼; May, 64 to 64½. Lard—October, 19.97; January, 18.20 to 18.30.

PRICES RECEDE IN BOSTON

Local Market Starts Weak and Is Dull and Narrow; Curb Improves

The Boston market had a weak opening and lower prices were the rule during the morning. Trading was quiet and the price movement was narrow. Weakest issues during the first hour were Massachusetts Gas, Gorton Pew and Amoskeag. They declined a point each. Not much was done in coppers. The reduction of the Mohawk dividend disbursement is an indication of the condition of the metal market. New England rails were sluggish. Auto accessory shares were neglected. Packing issues were quiet, but steady.

Among stocks to sustain small losses were Calumet & Arizona, Copper Range, North Butte, Seneca, Island Creek, United Shoe, Carson Hill, Eastern Manufacturing, Bigheart and New England Telephone.

Fractionally higher issues included American Telephone, Isle Royale, Quincy, Ventura, Swift & Co. and Boston-Mexican Petroleum.

CURB MARKET IMPROVED.

The Curb had a weak start but improved a little during the morning. It had a little more breadth than during the preceding session. Early leaders were Arizona Tip Top, Merrimac Development and Eureka. Stocks to advance at the opening included Imperial, Merrimac Development and Butte and London. Among weak ones were Bagdad, Black Hawk, Boston and Montana, Eureka, Mutual, Republic Navigation, Midway and Texana.

At the end of an hour Merrimac Development was up 4 cents at 27 cents, Black Hawk 1 cent at 39 cents, Crystal 1 cent at 40 cents, Mutual 11 cents at 62 cents and Republic Navigation ⅛ at 11⅛. Losses were Tip Top 2 cents at 14 cents, Eureka 3 cents at 28 cents, Boston and Montana 4 cents at 71 cents and Midway 15 cents at 43 cents.

DEFECTS IN PRESENT TAXATION SYSTEM

When he addressed Ohio business men on the prevailing methods of imposing taxes, Otto H. Kahn, international banker, said that excessive surtaxes diminished the incentive to thrift and appropriate to undue extent what ought to be available for industry and enterprise. He said:

"Our existing taxation measures in various important respects fly in the face of economic science, of common sense and of equity. They are cumbersome, complex. They bear the imprint of class and sectional discrimination. They penalize thrift and industry and leave the wastrel and shirker untouched. They discourage, disturb and impede business and place the American business man at a disadvantage as against his European competitor."

EXPECTS FIRM PRICES FOR STEEL PRODUCTS

An independent steel manufacturer says he does not look for a reduction in steel prices below the level set by U. S. Steel. He remarked:

"That corporation has more business booked that it has had in years and theoretically could operate eight months without receiving another order. Cancellations by automobile manufacturers do not represent 2 per cent. of the tonnage on the books of steel companies. Independent steel companies have been making concessions in prices. But these prices are still above those of United States Steel. If railroads start in to buy steel, even moderately, you are more likely to witness an advance. Steel companies are all well supplied with orders. In my opinion there will be no depression in steel prices for a long time."

Less Soft Coal Mined

There has been a great decrease in bituminous coal production in this country in three years. Up to Sept. 11 the output for 1920 is estimated as being below production for the corresponding 1917 period by 15,000,000 tons and as being 42,380,000 behind 1918, although 50,733,000 ahead of last year. Production during 1918 exceeded consumption and provided for a net addition to consumers' stocks by end of the year of approximately 50,000,000 tons. In 1919 the condition was reversed; consumption exceeded production and there was a net draft on stocks of perhaps 40,000,000 tons for the year.

Longest Grocery Store Chain

Having 4,544 stores, the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. is the longest grocery chain in this country or any other. During 1919 the company sold 50,000,000 pounds of coffee; 35,000,000 pounds of butter; 20,000,000 dozen eggs; 150,000,000 pounds of flour; 200,000,000 pounds of sugar; 303,300,000 pounds of potatoes; 68,400 cans of milk, and 200,000,000 cakes of soap. The company has 16,822 employes.

Oil Production in Texas

During the second quarter of this year crude oil production in Texas increased 244,847 barrels over the output for the first quarter. But the output for the last 1919 quarter exceeded that of the second 1920 quarter by more than a million barrels.

Stock Increase Certified

The Middle States Oil Company has filed at Dover, Del., notice of an increase in its capital stock from $8,000,000 to $16,000,000.

Are Stocks Headed Up or Down?
After a decline in security prices extending over a period of nearly a year, due to industrial deflation, it is of interest to know whether the downward movement has culminated, or whether the strong rally which has recently taken place represents a bulge preparatory to a further decline.
In view of the extreme importance of this question, we have attempted to indicate the probable trend of the market over the balance of the year in an editorial appearing in our current Market Review.
This publication, which currently discusses developments in industrial, oil and mining companies, will be sent to anyone free upon request.

GIRLS PAY $1.20 FOR APPLE PIE

Players Promptly Decide That Bring-Your-Lunch Idea Is Profitable

A piece of apple pie did the deed.

Billie Francis, Lillian Toye, Ann Guthrie and Constance Melville, who cavort around in "Irene," went into a one-arm lunch, and were taxed fifteen cents for a piece of apple pie.

Now it happens that this quartet runs an apartment up in the shadow of Symphony Hall and get a lot of their meals at home. So they know what things cost.

"That pie was cut into eight pieces. That makes it $1.20 for an apple pie," said Miss Francis. "And it cost about twenty cents."

"Robbers," said Miss Melville.

"Thieves," remarked Miss Toye.

"Murderers," added Miss Guthrie.

"Let's bring our own lunches, the way the Boston American is advocating," suggested Miss Toy.

Result: Yesterday afternoon on the stage of the Wilbur, between the matinee and evening performance the girls spread a couple of tables and piled on it what each had brought. The result was a very bountiful repast which was participated in by the sixteen girls in "Irene."

When they counted up they found it cost them about thirty-five cents each and they had all they could eat.

Result: The community feed between matinees will be a regular feature at the Wilbur from now on.

Among those present were Lillian Browning, Miriam Murray, Bobbie Coyle, Enid Cline, Gladys Nagle, Vivian Sterling, Ruth Moore, Nan Hope, Thelma Mays, Katherine Mueller, Nance Marvin, Madeline Cort and Emma K. Juliet.

LILLIAN GISH RISKED LIFE

Nearly Swept Over Falls on Ice Floe in Making "Way Down East"

By FRED J. McISAAC.

Little Lillian Gish came nearer to being spanked the other night, when the first Boston performance of "Way Down East" was given, than at any time since she put up her hair.

Lillian's mother saw the photoplay for the first time, sitting in a box at the Majestic Theatre, with her daughter seated by her side. Mrs. Gish had been in Europe with her other daughter, Dorothy, when "Way Down East" was being manufactured up at White River Junction, Vermont.

In the final scenes of the picture Lillian as Anna Moore has fallen exhausted upon the river ice and the section upon which she lies has broken off and is floating rapidly down towards the falls.

TOOK MANY CHANCES.

Mrs. Gish knows enough about motion pictures to know what is faked and what is real, and she knew that Lillian had taken a lot of chances. That ice scene is the most thrilling thing ever done on the screen. Lillian Gish is in momentary peril of slipping into the river and the speed at which the ice floe is traveling proves that she was altogether too close to the falls, going over which meant certain death.

If the audience got so excited it shrieked and shouted, you can imagine the feelings of Lillian's mother. At the moment when the rescue was effected, Mrs. Gish grasped her daughter by the arm and hissed:

"You little wretch, I have half a mind to spank you for taking such terrible chances when my back was turned."

Miss Gish and her mother told me this at the Majestic yesterday afternoon while they were waiting for the end of the performance to be introduced to the audience.

"How near were you actually to the falls?" I asked Miss Gish.

CHILLED BY ICY WATER.

"Altogether too near," she replied. "We all took chances in making that part of the picture, camera men as well as actors. You see we had waited around at White River Junction several weeks until the river ice broke up and started to float down. Then we all went out on it.

"Lying on my individual cake I couldn't see the dangers as well as those on the shore, but again and again I saw the camera men grab their cameras and rush wildly to the bank as the part of the ice upon which they were standing broke loose and started to go.

"I had suggested the bit of realism of having one hand fall over the edge into the water. Did you ever plunge your hand into ice water? It was just the same sensation as if it were burned. And as I had suggested it, I had to go through with it, and I actually suffered.

"I didn't mind roaming around in the blizzard so much, though it was a terrific storm, but I had to get my face covered with icicles for one 'close up' and that was very unpleasant.

SAYS FILM IS HER BEST.

"People have been very kind about my acting in this picture and I feel myself it was the best thing I have ever done. When I did 'The Birth of a Nation' I was only seventeen years old and of course knew very little about expressing emotion. In those days only very young girls photographed well in all positions.

"One of the most remarkable developments of the camera has been the way it is now possible to photograph women up to thirty where a few years ago twenty was about the limit in which an actress would photograph well. This gives us a chance to learn our business and actually accomplish something artistic before we pass on. For at best the career of a motion picture actress is much shorter than that of a legitimate performer.

"There is nobody like Mr. Griffith to work out motion picture situations, and I don't know anybody who can persuade his company to take chances as he is able to do. It is because we all have such confidence in his judgment, and it is a fact that his people escape injury in the most wonderful manner, no matter what they do.

WILL MAKE OWN PICTURES.

"In those Babylonian scenes in 'Intolerance,' when hundreds of men were engaged in battle and men were falling off those gigantic walls, it was predicted that there would be scores injured and some people killed. We had ambulances and physicians ready for anything that happened. I think one man broke a finger, and that was all."

"What are your plans for the future, Miss Gish?"

"I am leaving Mr. Griffith and making pictures in a special company formed for me. What the first picture will be I do not know. I regret exceedingly leaving the Griffith company, where I have achieved all my success, but I have his best wishes for my new venture."

MERCHANTS ASKED TO DECORATE FOR I. O. O. F.

Boston merchants have been asked to decorate their store fronts next week during the session of the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., in this city. Odd Fellows' Hall on Tremont street is already adorned with bunting and streamers. The delegates to the session will include Parley P. Christensen, Farmer-Labor candidate for President.

The French Ban on Germany Proves League's Futility

France has said that Germany will not be admitted to the League of Nations until she has paid off fully the indemnities required of her under the Treaty of Versailles.

The indemnities required of her under this treaty were in flagrant violation of the terms of the armistice, in reliance upon which the German people were induced to lay down their arms and become helpless before nations in whose honor they placed too much faith. Every intelligent human being in the world now knows that the terms of the Treaty of Versailles never can fully be performed. No man whose reputation is worth anything will publicly assert today that the Treaty of Versailles, in many of its most important respects, is enforceable.

If the German people are excluded from the League of Nations until they have met fully the terms of the treaty, according to the French interpretation, they will never be admitted to the League of Nations. Of course, this is what France intends, and, of course, this will, in a few years, even if the United States entered the League of Nations, be a contributing cause of the death of the league. For it would be a standing example of its hollowness and a standing proof that it was nothing but an attempt to create a second Holy Alliance, an offensive and defensive alliance for the purpose of preserving what France and England have stolen since the war.

With the greatest population and best educated and most efficient people of Western Europe out of the league; and with the great Slav population out of it; and with both these white populations hostile to it; and with China's 400,000,000 refusing to enter it, and with India's 300,000,000 regarding it as the foe of their hope of liberty, and with the peoples of Arabia, Mesopotamia and Asia Minor and Egypt all recognizing in it the reserve power of their oppressors, it is doomed, as every such league, to failure, because it has not any moral basis.

The very fact that France can consider the permanent exclusion of Germany and Russia from the League of Nations is decisive evidence of the character of the league as France views it.

Selection of Languages by School Children

It appears that among the scholars entering the New York public schools the study of Spanish is the most popular. Thirty thousand children have chosen Spanish as the language they prefer to study. Twenty thousand have chosen French. Fourteen thousand have chosen Italian and only three hundred have chosen German.

This indicates at once good sense and exceedingly poor sense.

The number of those who have chosen Spanish indicates that the children and their parents appreciate the importance of our country's future relations with the Spanish-American republics to the South.

But a few years ago Spanish was practically untaught in our public schools and even in our universities it was a neglected course, taken by a few students as part of a miscellaneous assortment of subjects. We recall that John F. Fitzgerald, when Mayor of Boston, had the vision to see the importance of the study of Spanish and very vigorously advocated the promotion of the study in our public schools.

It is obvious that the children made their choice against German without intelligence and independence of judgment. This incident is only one of many incidents in the last few years of the lack of moral courage and of the undue submersion in mob psychology on the part of Americans. It must be very disturbing to thoughtful people. The idea that the language of the most literate people in Europe, the most industrious and efficient in the arts and sciences, a language which men must know who would excel in science, a language which men and women must know who would get the most out of the grandest pieces of literature in the world, a language which men and women must know who would get the most out of some of the world's greatest masterpieces of poetry and musical composition—the language which is the root of English—should be chosen by only three hundred scholars out of nearly forty-five thousand who selected foreign languages, upon any basis of independent and intelligent judgment, is grotesque.

The children or their parents were simply afraid to exercise their judgment. Intellectual courage, the courage of one's convictions, is the thing we must teach our children just as we teach them how to defend their country. We must no more be moral cowards than physical cowards. We must no more run away from the patriotic demands for our opinions than we must run away from the patriotic demands for our bodies in war.

Observe and Be Proud of Your Traffic Squad

One of the amazing developments of the NEW Boston police force is its excellent traffic squad. Organized only ten months ago there probably is no finer traffic division in any police department in the United States, and, efficient as it now is, it appears to grow MORE efficient with every day that passes.

Finding fault with the police is one of the distinguishing marks of Americans. We expect every man in blue and brass to be another Sherlock Holmes, forgetting that the famous detective of Baker street does only what Mr. Conan Doyle permits him to do. The police are neither magicians nor wonder-workers, though frequently they perform wonders.

The job of the traffic policeman is peculiarly difficult. He meets hundreds of motorists every day who are quite sure that if there were no pedestrians and no policemen Boston would be Utopia. And thousands of pedestrians bump against him who know that all would be well in this world if there were no automobiles. The officer's job is to make them all behave and be happy.

The traffic squad is a great success. Its one hundred and thirty-three officers make up ONE of the institutions of which Boston is proud. We congratulate Superintendent Crowley upon the success of the new division.

And a very agreeable task would be less than half completed if we failed to salute Lieutenant Bernard J. Hoppe, who, as head of the traffic squad, appears to be as courteous and as courageous a young man as decorates the police department of any city in America.

Jimmy and His War Bride

Our hero is introduced to his bride's parents. The old man won't steal anything that's nailed down. The old lady wears running shoes with spikes in them so she can trample on people. Our hero has married into a nice family, all right. But it's his own fault. He had no business to be so handsome. Don't fail to read the next instalment. It tells all about how—

From Brixton Jail

Terence MacSwiney's Message to the World

IN future years look not this way and speak,
"There died a martyr for his people's cause,
Who did not cry for mercy, was not weak,"
But let you to this memory give pause:
Within these walls, while flesh was crucified,
The spirit of a nation was reborn—
A heart stopped beating and a body died,
But that for which it died lives on.

IN years to come when these great walls are dust,
Point not you here and say: "A sacred shrine,"
Nor yet, "There died a man whose cause was just,"
But rather think these thoughts, for these are mine:
That this was but a test of Ireland's will
To win the freedom cherished by the Gael—
That though they torture, even though they kill,
They who would break that spirit fail.

CHILDREN ARE TRUE DEMOCRATS.

It sometimes makes interesting conversation when those neighbors of yours drop in on you and you tell of some of those pranks which you used to play when you were young, outwitting your parents and teachers, but you are sowing seeds which may yield a bitter harvest in the future, should your own youngsters hear you.

How can you expect your children to respect your wishes when you acknowledge that you had so little respect for your elders?

Naturally, the boys and girls feel it is no worse for them than it was for you to deceive your parents, which is a logical deduction.

Children are great imitators.

If mother leaves her things scattered about the house, the kiddies will.

If father throws his hat and coat on a chair, the child expects the same privilege, and feels aggrieved if reprimanded.

You cannot expect that the little ones should realize a difference in privilege according to age and station, for they are natural, and nature is democratic.

A CONCESSION TO PUBLIC TASTE

There is to be a general revival of interest in football this year, so we are assured. They must have amended the rules so as to get more of the bloodiness back into the game.

Finds Herself Thief's Bride

IF you were a young Sunday School teacher, with a peculiar horror of crime and criminals, and woke up one morning to find yourself the bride of a thief and a murderer, what would you do?

This was the problem which pretty little Mildred Courtney Jackson found herself facing the other day. Her decision? Read the story in the Magazine Section of the Boston Sunday Advertiser next Sunday.

A man-eating plant has been discovered. Dr. Karl Leche, noted German scientist, has returned from Madagascar with a strange and horrible tale of scenes which he observed there. He was a witness while savages sacrificed one of their beautiful girls to a plant which consumed her alive much as the common little Venus Flytrap catches and eats flies and other insects. See the story and pictures in the Magazine Section Sunday.

Truhanova, the beautiful Circassian girl, the pet of the Paris boulevards, has surrendered to romance and gone back to the poor lover of her girlhood. She has closed her palace, and is going back to her native hills to live as a shepherdess with her girlhood sweetheart, who has been waiting for her ever since she ran away. Cynics say she will soon tire of the bucolic life and return to the triumphs of the stage.

PRACTICE OF BASKING IN THE SUN

By the Spectator

DID you ever try just sitting in the sun?

It is the primeval way of getting warm.

It was practiced by men and women who lived in the Stone Age, some ago; by human creatures in that dim conjectural distance before they invented fire, or before Prometheus brought it down from heaven; and by animals before ever there were any of them that stood on two legs and thought.

And it is a psychological principal that the older an act is, and the farther the practice of it runs back in evolutionary history, the easier, sounder and more wholesome it is.

In Stone Age

For instance, baseball is such fun simply because in it we are doing what our pre-Adamite ancestors were doing for ten thousand years.

For baseball consists of three forms of exercise (1) throwing a ball; (2) striking with a bat, and (3) running.

Now, for unnumbered eons our hairy forefathers and foremothers were doing just that; to wit, they threw stones at prey and enemy, they hunted and fought with tree branches made into clubs, and they ran home when the beasts were too fierce or the enemy too many.

The best runners, throwers and hitters survived. The others perished. Thus, by the process of natural selection, or survival of the fittest, have we evolved a nation of baseball players, the baseball nation of the United States of America, and long may she wave!

Poor Baskers

One thing that is the matter with Americans, perhaps all moderns, is that they are poor baskers.

Wordsworth discovered that we absorb a lot from nature "in a wise passiveness."

Fishing is so ancient and honorable a pastime possibly because it is mostly basking.

You gather yourself together, as it were, recover your scattered self from the robber world, when "you sit and think, and sometimes just sit."

Letters to the Editor

Foreign Labor

Editor Boston American:*

In a report published in the press regarding the longshoremen's strike it is stated that the work is being carried on by strikebreaking longshoremen, and on some of the ships by employing the crews to perform the work. Now, the action of the strikebreakers may not be commendable from some points of view, but it is, I suppose, perfectly legal.

Can the same be said regarding the employment of the crews of the English ships to do the work? I always understood it was an offence against the labor laws of the United States for a corporation or employer of labor to hire help in a foreign country for the purpose of performing work within the shores of the United States. If labor in the United States allows this to go on without a protest, we may in the near future see British ships arriving from India with their Lascar crews, who only receive a few cents a day, being offered double pay to fill the places of union longshoremen, who may happen to be out not on a "sympathy-for-Ireland" strike, but on a "regular authorized strike" for better working conditions.

Partition of Ireland

The British government's two latest moves, the arming of "well disposed" Irishmen and the appointment of an Under Secretary for Ulster leave little doubt as to the intentions of those who are directing the Lloyd George ministry. Even the moderates and advocates of dominion government, like Sir Horace Plunkett, stand aghast at this scheme. The object of this policy seems to be to prepare for an actual partition of Ireland, something which no one except a few Ulster Carsonites can contemplate without horror. Lloyd George and his advisors have tried every shift to smash Irish aspirations and all in vain. Plainly the intention is to thwart every Irishman who believes in democratic principles and self-determination for his land. The island is filled with soldiers, airplanes and machine guns, yet even Unionists admit that the Sinn Fein courts function with perfect justice everywhere.—The Pilot.

FALSE IDEAS ON ORIGIN OF HUMAN RACE

By Garrett P. Serviss

"It has been stated by learned men—Darwin and others—that we owe our origin to monkeys, reptiles, fish, etc. As the human race has been known to exist thousands of years, why do we not find humans who have recently originated from any of the above sources?—F. C. L., Paterson, N. J."

THERE is a good deal of misapprehension behind all questions of this kind, and this misapprehension ought to be cleared up before the established facts are discussed. Neither Darwin nor anyone else possessing any standing in the world of science has ever affirmed that "we owe our origin" to monkeys, reptiles, fish, etc.

The general evolutionary doctrine is simply that all animals are the result of development tending from lower and generally to higher and more specialized forms. It may be that there was but one animal organism to begin with, a simple living cell, and that all animal forms have developed from this along differing lines of evolution.

Single Primary Element

So, with regard to the universe of matter, or of suns and worlds, it may be that, at bottom, everything existed not only in a nebulous state but that the first nebula was composed of a single primary element, out of which many have since been developed.

Only in the most general way can any type of celestial body, or any class of living organism, be said to owe its origin to any lower or earlier class. This is particularly so in the case of the evolution of our race, for the human type does not occupy a lineal place in a procession of forms, more or less resembling man, but it is a special branch, or offshoot, from a stem that also gave rise to such creatures as apes and monkeys.

Origin Reversed

It is only necessary, in order to see how far science is from asserting that man is descended from the man-like apes, to remark that, according to the evolutionary record, the human line set off from the general stem at an earlier time than did the line, or lines, of the chimpanzee, orang, gorilla, etc. We might then more logically say that the apes owe their origin to man than that man owes his origin to the apes.

As to human relationship with forms of animals bearing no outward resemblance to man, as, for instance, reptiles and fishes, it is only necessary to point out that the connection can only be of a general structural character. For instance, there are thousands of species of animals, all of which belong to the vertebrate, or backboned, type, and which, by virtue of that fact, are related to one another, and one of these species constitutes the human race.
